

WIDOW LOSES HER FIGHT OVER ASHES

By Amardeep Bassey

A WIDOW from Hednesford has been denied permission to move her husband's ashes from a church to a graveyard nearer her home.

Beryl Osborne, aged 66, had pleaded with the Chancellor of the Diocese of Lichfield, Stephen Eyre QC.

But he refused her request to exhume her late husband Terry Osborne's ashes, currently buried at St Gabriel's Church in Fullbrook, Walsall. She wanted them moved to Our Lady of Lourdes in Uxbridge Street, Hednesford, so she could guarantee a burial spot next to his.

In turning down the application Mr Eyre QC told the former medical receptionist: "It is not open to the court to authorise an exhumation and re-interment simply in order to make it easier for the bereaved to visit the grave of the deceased." Retired decorator Mr Osborne died in a car crash in July 2012 aged 67, two years after being diagnosed with terminal prostate cancer.

The couple had been regular worshippers from 2006 at St Gabriel's where Mr Osborne served as a church warden and Mrs Osborne's parents are buried.

Mrs Osborne said: "A few years earlier we had booked and paid for a burial plot at the church for us because it felt the natural thing to do at that time. His funeral was well attended, and his ashes were buried in our chosen spot, which I would regularly visit."

The couple had been drawn towards Roman Catholicism in the years before Mr Osborne's death and began spending less time at St Gabriel's. "It dawned on me a few months after Terry's death day that I should double check that my burial spot was still fixed despite me leaving that church, and I was told that there was no guarantee of it, even though I'd paid for it years earlier," said Mrs Osborne.

Moving the ashes to Our Lady of Lourdes would have put them within walking distance of Mrs Osborne's home, saving her a 35 mile round trip to go to St Gabriel's. Her application was backed by her four children, the Parochial Church Council of St Gabriel's and the parish priest at Our Lady of Lourdes.

But the Chancellor turned the application down, saying: "It must always be exceptional for exhumation to be allowed, and the Consistory Court must determine whether there are any special circumstances justifying the taking of that exceptional course. The reason why Mrs Osborne seeks exhumation and re-interment of those remains is to move them to a location at which it will be easier for her to visit her husband's grave. That is not an exceptional circumstance capable of justifying exhumation. Accordingly, the petition must be refused."

GWENDOLINE REVEALS HOW TO REACH 100

A WOMAN who taught yoga until she was 88 has just celebrated her 100th birthday.

Gwendoline Clarke, who was born in Birmingham but now lives in Hednesford, turned 100 on Wednesday last week. As well as teaching yoga, Gwendoline never smoked or drank and regularly used to go cycling and walking with her late husband Bill.

The pair married in 1944 when Gwendoline was 24. They never had any children.

Before moving to Cannock in 2004, Gwendoline worked at Lucas Industries in Birmingham making car parts. She and Bill went on their first date to the cinema, and they were also both very keen on dancing.

Gwendoline celebrated her 100th birthday at the Kingsley Cottage Care Home in Hednesford with a cake and surrounded by her family, including her brother who had travelled from Cornwall.

She said of her life and of turning 100: "I spent most of my life in Birmingham, working at Lucas until I retired.

"I think what has helped me live to such a good age is that I didn't drink or smoke. Two of my favourite passions, when my husband

Bill was alive, were cycling and walking. I also taught yoga until I was 88 years old. In August of 2004 I moved to a bungalow in Cannock to be near to my niece and nephew who looked after me until November 2014 when I moved into Kingsley Cottage Care Home, Hednesford, where I am now looked after by the staff who are both kind and caring.

"It's thanks to the staff and my family that I have celebrated my 100th birthday."

Gwendoline's nephew Terry Bentley paid tribute to his aunt. He said: "She's an inspiration to all us family members."

ASSAULT

Woman is pushed over and kicked

AN 18-year-old woman was attacked as she walked along a road in Cheslyn Hay. She was pushed to the ground then kicked a number of times. She was left with bruising and swelling and was badly shaken up.

The woman was walking along Landywood Lane, near to its junction with Rosewood Park on Tuesday last week at around 8.15pm when it happened.

The man is described as 18-years-old, 5ft 8in and skinny. He was wearing all black with a scarf covering his face. Anyone with information is asked to call 101.

TALK

Vicar to reflect on his playing career

PETER HART will give a talk entitled 'From Footballer to Vicar' at the monthly members meeting of Bridgton & District Local History Society.

Best known locally for his time at Walsall FC, the former professional player will tell of his experiences with a number of clubs through to his decision to enter the Church. He is currently vicar of St Luke's Church in Cannock.

The meeting will be held at the Bethel Chapel in Union Street on Wednesday at 10am. Non-members are welcome.

SHOPPING

Jobs in store with new £650k Co-op

TWENTY jobs have been created at a new convenience store in Cannock.

The £650,000 Co-op store is due to open today in Stafford Road, Huntington. It will be open between 7am-10pm every day and include an in-store bakery, cash machine and Costa coffee dispenser.

Carol Battersby, manager of the Co-op's new store, said: "We are delighted to have had the opportunity to make such a significant investment in Huntington."

"The Co-op is investing to transform and grow its convenience business and to launch its first new store of the year is extra special."

Leader backs Chase anti-fracking drive

Natalie Bennett - 'focus'

GREEN Party leader Natalie Bennett has joined the fight to stop the possibility of fracking underneath Cannock Chase.

On a visit to Chasewater, the Australian-born politician said fossil fuels should be left in the ground to prevent 'catastrophic environmental consequences'.

It came after the Government approved proposals to allow fracking to extract shale gas below areas of outstanding natural beauty, such as Cannock Chase.

Ms Bennett's visit was organised to mark her party's successful protest against the sale of Staffordshire County Council's countryside estates.

But she also wanted to kick-start the party's next campaign - 'Keep Your Fracking Hands Off Cannock Chase'.

In response to a question asking if areas such as Cannock Chase were vulnerable to the practice in the future, she said: "We saw the Government go back on a promise not to allow fracking under national parks and areas of outstanding natural beauty."

"We say it shouldn't be allowed anywhere but let's just focus on Britain."

We know we have to leave two thirds of our fossil fuels in the ground to prevent catastrophic environmental consequences."

The Cannock Chase Green Party has started a campaign to prohibit the gas extraction process on the Chase, which gained more than 2,200 signatures since just before Christmas.

Although no decision has been made to proceed with fracking there, the group is keen to demonstrate strong local opposition by the time the county council, which owns the site, comes to make any decision.

Patients approve of extra hours surgery

A NEW GP surgery offering an extra 500 appointments a month has proven to be a real hit with patients in Cannock.

Nearly all of the patients who have attended the Network Surgery since it opened its doors in September said they were either very satisfied or satisfied with the service they had received.

The surgery, which was established following a successful £320,000 bid to the Prime Minister's Challenge Fund, was designed to improve patient access to primary care by offering greater flexibility of appointments. The project is funded until March 31 and nearly 98 per cent of patients said they would like to see the service continue after this date.

The Network Surgery was developed by the Cannock Practices Network in response to feedback from the Minor Injury Unit (MIU) Consultation and the Primary Care Strategy and in partnership with the Cannock Public Engagement Network. In feedback from patients so far, nearly 25 per cent said they would have gone to A&E or MIU if they had not had an appointment.

Booked

In addition to providing additional doctor and nurse appointments for patients, the project aims to free up time in the 10 participating GP practices.

Project lead Clive Cropper, practice manager at Moss Street Surgery, said: "One of the surprising issues we have faced is people not attending for their appointment, even though it may have only been booked that day. We want to make the most use of these same day appointments so would urge any patients who can no longer attend, for whatever reason, to please cancel their appointment. We also want to remind people that appointments are available from 9am to 1pm on Saturdays as the take-up for these has been lower than expected."

The surgery is based in the GP Suite on Level 2 in Cannock Chase Hospital.

The 10 practices from the Network involved in the first phase of the project are Alderwood Medical Practice, Chadsmoor Medical Practice, Heath Hayes/Chase Medical Practice, Moss Street Surgery, Dr Murugan's Surgery, Dr Rasib's Surgery, Rawnsley Surgery, Red Lion Surgery, Dr VK Singh's Surgery and Dr Yi's Surgery.

Ian offers elfing hand to flood victims

A CANNOCK bus driver has delivered tons of donated goods to flood-hit victims in Yorkshire.

Dressed as an elf, Ian Astbury drove up to Leeds on New Year's Day with a van-load of items ranging from food tins to a television.

The 42-year-old from Sycamore Green had worn the costume to get passengers on his Arriva bus in the Christmas spirit and thought he would continue the positive vibe by putting it on once more for the two-and-a-half-hour drive.

The father-of-two launched the appeal on his Facebook page.

He said: "Originally I just put a message out to my friends after seeing the floods on television but it kept getting shared."

"The next thing I knew I opened my house up and I had people turning up dropping things off such as toiletries, bedding, clothes, curtains, toys, books, and computer equipment."

"I couldn't move in my house at one stage, it was full of boxes."

Mr Astbury, who has been a bus driver for 23 years, ended up hiring a 7.5-ton truck which was generously paid for by Craig Carr who wanted to help the appeal.

Arriva funded the petrol to Leeds and donated £100 worth of fruit to the haul.

Tributes as canals trust chairman dies, aged 77

BRIAN Kingshott, the chairman of Lichfield and Hatherton Canals Restoration Trust, has died, aged 77.

Mr Kingshott, who had been active as trust chairman until less than three months ago, died peacefully on Saturday.

Born in Sussex and a graduate of Oxford University before becoming a teacher, Mr Kingshott's last post was as deputy headmaster of the Royal School in Wolverhampton.

Brian Kingshott

He lived at Hop-ton Castle in Shropshire. David Dixon, the trust's vice-chairman, said: "In his spare time Brian was a keen boater and an active participant in the Inland Waterways Association and our trust, which he led for some 15 years, notably ensuring that restoration of the Lichfield Canal would not be prevented by the M6 Toll road. He will be sorely missed."

Lichfield MP Michael Fabricant, a patron of the trust, said: "This is a terrible shock. I was last with Brian at the Huddlesford Gathering and he seemed full of life."

"He was a superb chairman and we often worked together to tackle issues which affected the canal restoration."

"He was a driving force in the L&H-CRT and I and the other volunteers will miss him greatly."

Sports scheme in new programme

RUGELEY-BASED Progressive Sports is about to launch its second traineeship programme. The 12-week, full-time course offers the chance to gain a level 2 qualification in the principles of coaching as well as learning from the experienced coaches within the company.

Trainees also go on work placement in schools and have the possibility of being sent on other courses to build up their CV. "If you are aged between 16 and 18 and have a passion for sport, then this may be the course for you," Jonathan Haynes, traineeship and apprenticeship manager, said.

Two teenagers who started their traineeship with Progressive Sports in the autumn have almost completed the course. Call 07889 178056 or email j.haynes@progressivesports.co.uk

FREDDY'S FASTFIT

Downgrade worries on £2.6m A&E makeover

A £2.6 MILLION revamp of County Hospital's accident and emergency department has been announced – but campaigners fear it may lead to a further downgrade of the service.

Work at the site in Weston Road, Stafford, is expected to start in the next few months after health bosses agreed to the programme.

A meeting at the hospital today will discuss architects' plans which will address the design and layout.

It will remain open throughout the refurbishment. The department stopped providing an overnight service in December 2011. Hospital campaigner Karen Howell said: "The public needs to attend this meeting to ensure the plans meet the needs of a fully reinstated A&E department, not merely a minor injuries unit."

The work is part of a £250m investment in hospital care announced by the Treasury 14 months ago, with £150m going to Stafford's County Hospital and £100m going to Stoke.

The plans have been given a cautious welcome by council chiefs. Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "I obviously welcome any improvement to the service that will enhance patients' experience but I'd rather the money was spent on providing an overnight service which would reduce the pressure on New Cross Hospital's A&E."

Councillor Muriel Davis, health chief on Cannock Chase Council, said: "A lot of Cannock people still use the County Hospital in Stafford so I welcome the news."

Two arrested over assault in street

TWO men have been arrested in connection with an assault in Chasetown.

A 66-year-old man suffered severe facial and head injuries and is in a serious but stable condition in hospital following the attack during the early hours of New Year's Day.

The victim, along with a 42-year-old man, were attacked while they walked along Queen Street at its junction with King Street near Chasetown Memorial Park.

The 42-year-old also received facial injuries but did not need to go to hospital.

A 24-year-old man and a 25-year-old have been bailed, pending further inquiries, to a date in February.

Staffordshire Police have renewed an appeal for witnesses to call 101.

Fundraisers bring in £8.5k for Macmillan

Barry Hackett – handed over cheque

A SERIES of fundraisers held by a Rugeley-based group has raised £8,500 for Macmillan Cancer Support.

It has been generated by members and supporters of the charity's Rugeley & District committee.

Some of the cash was raised when committee member Barry Hackett did a sponsored walk from Costa Coffee Rugeley to Costa Coffee in Hednesford to help raise a total of £7,838 for which was divided between Macmillan and the charity MIND.

During the year the Ladies Line

Dancing of Chads Moor raised £900. The Rugeley committee also organised several quiz evenings and collections during the year as well as a Christmas concert at Mansfield House in Rugeley.

The festive event raised £515 and was sponsored by JCB in Rugeley.

The show featured the Rugeley Power Station Brass Band and the Phoenix Singers.

Lady Harrowby of Sandon Hall was guest of honour, representing Macmillan, and she accepted a cheque for £3,919 from Barry Hackett, the result mainly of a sponsored walk from Costa Coffee Rugeley to Costa Coffee Hednesford.

The group has also received £110 from a racing evening and £168 from a quiz evening at The Lamb & Flag in Little Haywood.

A total of £8,500 has been sent to the charity's headquarters. The committee also has £800 towards its 2016 fundraising total.

For further details about Macmillan fundraising activities in the Rugeley area, call committee chair Sheila Simpson on 01889 582837.

Crews attend 25 pub fires in last four years

FIREFIGHTERS in Staffordshire have attended 25 incidents at pubs in the last four years, figures show.

Since 2012, Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service has been called out to nearly 40 alerts at nightclubs and restaurants, as well as pubs.

The requests related to venues in Cannock, Stafford and the south of Staffordshire.

Six pub fires including blazes in Western Springs, the south of Cannock, Stafford, Brewood and Codsall were put down to faulty equipment or electrics.

Meanwhile, 'cooking' was cited as the reason for three fires, at a restaurant in the Sieghford area of Stafford in August 2014, a pub fire in Milford, and another in Wombourne, both of which happened last February.

A fire at the former Globe Inn in Hednesford in March 2014 was among the incidents after arsonists targeted the site. The blaze at the pub, which had long since shut down, required 15 firefighters to tackle at its height. In August that year firefighters were called out to cut a man out of a car after it had crashed into the Longford House Beefeater pub in Cannock.

Figures

The man, in his 30s, was lucky not to be killed in the incident, according to ambulance crews, and was taken to hospital with leg injuries. A breakdown showed that incidents were split relatively evenly in the period, with 13 happening in Cannock Chase, 11 in south Staffordshire and 14 in Stafford.

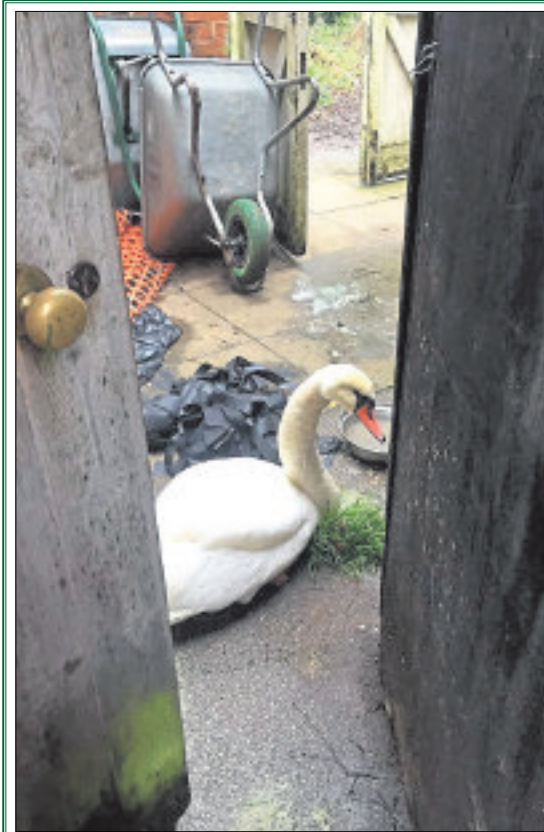

As well as pubs, there were four incidents at nightclubs and nine at restaurants or cafes.

Not included in the figures was the recent blaze at the former Westway pub on Stafford's Highfields estate.

The fire was started deliberately on December 7. Nine crews were required to tackle the blaze. The pub had been shut since 2013 and has now been demolished in the wake of the arson attack. The site had already been earmarked for a development of 18 apartments and 14 houses.

Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service is facing severe cutbacks over the next few years and has been tasked to save £5.7 million by 2020.

Bosses have confirmed they are axing more than 40 firefighter posts in initial savings of £1m. Chiefs defended the cuts by stating demand for the service has reduced by a third in the last six years.

Rescued by Shugborough staff – the fully-grown swan which got trapped in a small yard on the 700-acre estate

Rescue mission as swan trapped

A RESCUE mission to save a swan was not on the minds of volunteers and staff at the Shugborough Estate when they turned up for work.

But on arriving to start their shifts at the National Trust estate, they discovered a fully grown, adult male swan trapped inside the smallest yard on the site.

The unlucky creature had somehow managed to trap himself in the yard and needed to be rescued by staff, who took him to the nearby British Wildlife Trust base in Amerton.

Corinne Caddy, deputy manager of the estate, said: "We had just walked into work and had been getting ready to settle in for a normal day when our volunteers found the swan."

"He was very undernourished and weak. Our first reaction was amazement, we had no idea how he had ended up in there, it could have been something to do with the winds."

"We had braced ourselves for a battle when we went in to collect him, expecting a swan of his size to be a handful, but he was so weak he was happy for us to pick him up," she added.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Celebrations lined up for Burns Night

BURNS Night will be celebrated in style on January 23 at Cannock's Premiere Suite with an evening of dancing, bag-piping and story-telling.

The celebrations will feature performances from highland dancers and Scottish pipers as well as the traditional address to the Haggis and toasting the 'Lassies'. A brief history of Scotland will be told before a Scottish supper is served.

Music and dancing will follow, and the evening ends with a disco. The event starts at 7pm. All are welcome. Call 01543 572092 to reserve a table.

Year-old business in hunt for staff

A THRIVING grooming business in Cannock is taking on new staff as it celebrates its first year in business.

Shawz 4 Pawz opened in Walsall Road in December 2014 and has quickly established itself in the town.

After following the 'Start Up' programme run by Blue Orchid and Cannock Chase Council, owner Karen Shaw was awarded a £1,000 grant from Cannock Chase Council and Chase Community Partnership towards setting up the business in an empty retail unit.

Call 07548 972990 for more details.

Unwanted gifts can help charity

THE Salvation Army's Cannock shop is appealing for people to donate unwanted Christmas gifts.

They will be sold to raise money for the charity's work. Items can be dropped off at the shop at Cannock Shopping Centre, Market Hall Street.

Salvation Army Trading Company area manager Susan Hindle said: "It's a crying shame that so many Christmas gifts get buried and forgotten."

"Unwanted clothes and gift items have more value than you think."

Wrestling club in plea for members

HEDNESFORD-BASED Professional Wrestling School are now taking on students for their children's club.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

SIDDHARTHA Dhar, the British man suspected of appearing in the latest Islamic State murder video, was arrested in London in 2014. He was accused of belonging to the banned group Al-Muhajiroun and released on police bail. A few hours later he and his family simply hopped on a bus to Paris and then travelled to IS-controlled Syria. You may like to ponder this the next time some grinning security official confiscates your shampoo at the airport, or some pompous politician thunders on about "protecting our borders." Dhar's case is yet more proof that, whether undesirable are coming or going, Britain's borders are about as secure as a colander.

ANYONE who remembers the drought of 1976 will be wary about the latest plans to dredge rivers to let these billions of gallons of unwanted flood water escape into the sea as quickly as possible. Come August, we may wish we'd saved a bit.

YES, it was petty, vindictive and short-sighted. But the most worrying thing about Jeremy Corbyn's shadow cabinet reshuffle was that it was agonisingly slow. Assuming he ever got to Downing Street, how would this great thinker, debater, negotiator and all-round procrastinator react to a sudden crisis?

FOR four days the German media ignored an inconvenient truth. It was that on New Year's Eve a gang of up to 1,000 boys and men of North African or Arab appearance had poured into Cologne to rape, grope, mug and generally terrify women in what appeared to be a planned assault.

The local police chief describes the outrage as "a completely new dimension of crime." There were similar incidents in other German cities. A mass protest by women followed. Chancellor Merkel has expressed her disgust and the media have, at last, taken up the story ("Cologne inquiry into 'co-ordinated' New Year's Eve sex attacks" - Guardian, etc). It is bad enough that such a thing could have happened and been hushed up by the forces of political correctness. But it raises a truly terrifying question. If 1,000 alienated young males can organise an attack in the heart of a Western city for sexual purposes, what else might they do?

E-CIGARETTES may soon be available on prescription to help smokers give up the habit. One of the biggest manufacturers of these vaping devices is British American Tobacco. Which means our beloved NHS could soon be handing millions of pounds of our taxes over to the fag-makers.

SWITCHED on the radio to hear some totally disconnected sound-bite? I tuned in to catch a debate on Marks & Spencer where someone was "getting his teeth into the women's wear issue."

Alton Towers to recruit 1,200 workers

ALTON Towers has launched a recruitment drive for 1,200 workers as bosses look to put a troubled 2015 behind them.

The Staffordshire theme park wants to bring in seasonal workers. It comes six months after five people suffered serious injuries when the Smiler ride crashed - two people, Leah Washington and Vicky Balch, required leg amputations. The theme park then revealed plummeting revenues and 190 job cuts.

But bosses are now aiming to bounce back with the jobs announcement.

Resort recruitment manager Kerry Alcock said: "All of our recruitment is done via an online application form through our website and because our business is so dynamic, we never really have a quiet period - applications come in every day from the day after we close."

"As ever, personality is more important to us than academic qualifications, but we do need people who are outgoing and who have great communications skills."

Business leaders welcomed the new jobs at Alton Towers.

Sara Williams, chief executive at the Staffordshire Chambers of Commerce, said: "It is very good to see they are recruiting people. They have had a great reputation in the past."

"It is a great place to work and has been known to be a good employer. Alton Towers is extremely important in terms of our tourism offer."

"I really hope they will have a positive year, I think now people can be pretty certain it will be safer than anywhere," she added.

Call to use bank fines to buy air ambulance

By Amardeep Bassey

CASH from fines paid by banks to the Treasury should be used to buy a replacement air ambulance for the Midlands, according to Cannock Chase's MP.

Amanda Milling is backing a quest to secure £1 million for the Midlands Air Ambulance Charity to buy a new helicopter.

The charity currently leases the helicopter that covers her constituency and which is normally based at Tatenhill, the MP said.

Ms Milling said: "The charity wants to purchase a new helicopter outright and reduce its need to lease aircraft. This will mean lower operating costs and a better more stable future for this vital service."

The Midlands Air Ambulance is responsible for funding and operating three air ambulances serving Gloucestershire, Herefordshire, Shropshire, Staffordshire, Worcestershire and the West Midlands.

Equipment

Since 1991, the charity has responded to more than 43,000 emergencies averaging 2,000 missions per year making it one of the longest established and busiest air ambulance organisations in the UK.

The charity's three aircraft each carry a crew comprising pilot, two paramedics or flight doctors plus full life-support medical equipment.

Ms Milling said: "We have all seen what a brilliant service the air ambulance is and it's so easy to recognise the bright red helicopter when it is responding to an emergency."

"The medical team and flight crew have saved countless lives over the years and we all know how important they are. Getting injured on Cannock Chase could be life-threatening because of the remote locations, and a helicopter could be the vital lifeline needed in a crisis."

"I think using the proceeds from banking fines for charities like the Air Ambulance is widely supported." Ms Milling said she has written a formal letter to HM Treasury with the charity's proposal.

Traffic chaos as skip lorry sheds load

The skip lorry partially overturned before resting on a garden wall in Uxbridge Street, Hednesford

A ROAD in Hednesford was closed after a skip lorry ended up nearly tipping on its side, before shedding its load into the front garden of a house.

Staffordshire Police were called to the scene at Uxbridge Street at 9.45 am on Wednesday last week after the lorry partially overturned before resting on a garden wall, which stopped it from completely tipping over.

The road remained closed as crews waited for assistance in getting the lorry back upright and moving it away from the site. Staffordshire Police, Staffordshire Fire & Rescue Service and West Midlands Ambulance Service attended the scene.

A fire service spokesperson said: "We were called out to Uxbridge Street where a 16-tonne moving lorry carrying a 12-tonne skip had landed on its side at an angle of 45 degrees. Crews from Cannock fire station were sent to the scene, one was allowed to leave after a few hours, and the other stayed while assistance was called."

The accident caused traffic chaos in Hednesford.

Police spokesperson Faye Casey said: "No casualties were reported and our crews called for assistance to remove the vehicle."

Ambulance service spokesman Jamie Arrowsmith said: "We received a call from the fire service at 9.52am to reports of a lorry that had collided with a wall at the junction of Uxbridge Street and Market Street in Hednesford. "A community first responder attended the scene but there were no patients requiring treatment."

'Please keep looking' plea after rescue dog escapes

DOG lovers have been urged to keep looking for a dog rescued from a 'kill shelter' in Cyprus, only to go missing on the last leg of her journey to become a much-loved family pet.

Lilah, a small black Labrador cross, bolted from the car which was taking her from her foster home in Stockport, to a new life in Portsmouth. She disappeared from Hilton Park Services, near Cannock, at the end of November.

In the weeks since Lilah vanished, hundreds of dog lovers moved by her story have joined volunteers searching for her throughout Staffordshire and Shropshire.

Donna Denton, who fostered her in this country, said: "We have been overwhelmed by the response from local families who share our determination that Lilah's story should have a happy ending."

"They have searched with us daily, kept watch at night and even engaged celebrity support to spread the word across social media. Everyone just wants to bring Lilah home."

"If you think you might have spotted Lilah, please don't call her or give chase. She will be frightened and will run away. Try to get a photo and call the search team immediately on 075461 79252 or 07904 593328. You can also contact the Get Lilah Home page on Facebook or #getlilahhome on Twitter."

Organ concert to celebrate decade

A MUSIC club in Staffordshire is celebrating a decade since it formed with a concert by an organist.

Brett Wales was the first musician to play for Burntwood Music for All after it began in 2005 and will return with covers of everything from William Tell to songs by Queen, Abba and Johnny Cash.

When the Burntwood Organ Society closed their doors after 30 years, Chris and Marie Powell decided to continue that group's 30-year tradition with Burntwood Music for All.

Heavily influenced by Klaus Wunderlich, Wales's three-keyboard Wersi organ is hooked up to a PC.

The concert is at Burntwood Memorial Institute Hall next Thursday (21) at 7.30pm. Tickets, £6.50, on the door. Details on 01530 274270.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Charity to host rugby fixture

THE Staffordshire branch of the Pilgrim Bandits Charity is hosting a charity rugby match featuring ex-military personnel and local veterans.

The match is taking place at Willenhall rugby club on Saturday. Kicking off at midday, the match will see a military select 15 play a Willenhall veterans 15. There will also be auctions, raffles and live music.

The charity hit the headlines when one of its patrons, West Midlands Ambulance Service paramedic Ben Parkinson MBE, kayaked down the Yukon river in British Columbia.

Restaurant quiz about to return

THE Dilshad restaurant in Chaddesmoor is set to stage its first curry and quiz night of the year.

The restaurant, in Cannock Road, will stage the event on Monday.

Customers can start arriving at 7pm for starters, with the quiz starting at 8pm. Some of the proceeds of the event will be donated to Birmingham Children's Hospital.

The event is hosted by David St John who holds the Guinness Book of Records world record for appearing on the most TV quiz shows. To book a place, call 01543 570264.

Tree chippings service at parks

A FREE Christmas tree chipping service will be operated in Cannock until the end of the month. Cannock Park, Ravenhill Park and Hednesford Park will be taking de-decorated trees.

Residents can take them between 9am and 3pm any day up to January 24. They can collect the chippings at Cannock Park on January 18 and 25, Ravenhill Park on January 20 and 25, and Hednesford Park on January 15, 22, 25 and 26. Residents wishing to collect chippings should bring a bag.

Pubs put on their own January sales

PUB-GOERS can enjoy a January Sale at two Wetherspoon pubs in the Cannock area.

Managers at The Linford Arms in High Green, Cannock, and Hednesford Lodge in Anglesey Street, Hednesford, have reduced the price on a range of drinks until Sunday, January 17.

Andy Johnston, manager of The Linford Arms, said: "Department stores and shops hold their sales in January, so it is the perfect time to have a sale in the pub too."

20,000 connections

MORE than 20,000 homes in Staffordshire are set to be connected to Superfast Broadband in 2016. The Superfast Staffordshire programme will continue thanks to £1.6 million of extra funding from Broadband Delivery UK. More than 40,000 properties were connected in 2015 in the county.

Team look ahead to lift-off for next Space

ALMOST 13,000 youngsters took part in an activities programme in Staffordshire relaunched nearly 20 years after it was mothballed.

Now views are being sought on extending the Space programme for a further year. The initiative, revived in 2015, was originally led by the county's police force during the 1980s and 1990s in an attempt at better engaging with young people.

The new version of Space has been coordinated by the county's Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, Matthew Ellis. It has similar objectives and has worked closely with a mixture of voluntary and public organisations with the aim of increasing the skills of 11 to 17-year-olds, and improving their health and wellbeing.

Events were led by voluntary sector organisations and local councils rather than the police across Staffordshire between July and August.

Activities included cricket, street art and skate boarding in Cannock Chase, trampolining, water sports and dancing in Lichfield, woodwork, dancing and football in Stafford, and hockey, film production and drama in South Staffordshire.

Mr Ellis said: "I think it's brilliant that Space saw more than 12,900 attendances by young people across Staffordshire at over 560 activities."

He said that in order to expand the programme it was aimed to recruit 1,000 volunteers.

To take part people can fill in a feedback form on the Space website www.staffordshire-pcc.gov.uk/space/

Loans fund for firms extended

MORE small and medium sized businesses in Staffordshire will be supported following the extension of a county council partnership.

The Staffordshire Business Loan Fund was set up by the council in 2009 and has been delivered by not-for-profit loan organisation BCRS.

In September, the county council's cabinet agreed to extend the fund for another three years.

It has now been announced that BCRS will continue to deliver the fund following a tender process.

The fund has led to more than 1,000 jobs being created or safeguarded.

People can find out more by calling the Stoke-on-Trent and Staffordshire Business Helpline on 0300 111 8002 or emailing enquiries@bcrs.org.uk

Efficiency vow as chopper base axed

Helicopter bases face a shake-up

A POLICE helicopter base which serves three forces in the region will be scrapped next year in a bid to save money and ensure police air support is 'used properly'.

The National Police Air Service, which provides flight support to police forces across the country, confirmed it is closing 10 of its 25 bases.

It means the helicopter used to jointly serve Staffordshire Police, West Midlands Police and West Mercia Police will now be based in Birmingham instead of at Halfpenny Green Airport near Wolverhampton.

The nearest aircraft available will attend requests for assistance instead of individual forces owning and operating their own helicopter.

Police helicopters are normally called out to help police find missing people or help in the capture of suspects using thermal-imaging camera.

Staffordshire Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis said: "I welcome the move to Birmingham because it means local forces will have to better prioritise and make sure air support is used properly and in the most efficient way." He added that Staffordshire's 'more rural' areas might find police helicopter support may take a 'few minutes longer than normal'.

Supt Mick Boyle, head of operational services for Staffordshire Police, said: "The closure of the National Police Air Service bases should have no effect upon the service we deliver to the people of Staffordshire."

Chief Supt Ian Whitehouse, from the National Police Air Service, said: "A review will be conducted to ensure the agreed operating model is appropriate."

Health hazard fears over leaking sewage

LEAKING sewage outside a corner shop in Rugeley has caused a stink for nearby residents, who have described the smell as 'disgusting'.

Sewern Trent Water, who have attended the Fernwood Drive scene on more than occasion, said the leaking sewage had been caused by a blocked sewer pipe and that they had worked round the clock to fix the issue.

But people living in the area have labelled the waste as a 'health hazard', insisting that it's still there and keeps overflowing.

Local resident Philip Chalmers, who visits the area every day to buy his morning paper, said: "It's disgusting. There's raw sewage out on the footpath and it's a health hazard, especially to children. Sewern Trent have been out several times but it keeps overflowing."

The sewage is located at the side of the My Local convenience store in Fernwood Drive.

Michaela Sparkes, the team leader at the store, said: "Sewern Trent have been out four or five times now to sort it out but it keeps happening. It's disgusting but our customers haven't really been affected by it, we're keeping a close eye on it, and we phone Sewern Trent every time it gets bad."

Anticipated

Cannock Chase Council spokesperson Kirsteen Miles said: "The council were made aware of the situation, and the water contractor cleared the blockage."

"However, they have recognised that the clean-up was a bigger job than they anticipated. The council's environmental officers met with the water contractor to clean up the area."

Grace Marren, a spokesperson for Sewern Trent Water, said: "We were called out to sewer flooding at Fernwood Drive in Rugeley last weekend."

"The flooding had been caused by a blockage in the sewer pipe so we've cleared the blockage, and worked around the clock over the last few days to clean up the area to get everything back to normal for residents and local businesses."

"We found that the blockage had been caused by a build up of sanitary products in the sewer pipe. This happens when people flush them down the toilet instead of disposing of them in the bin," she added.

"We'd encourage everyone to bin things like sanitary products, nappies and wipes. The drains that take waste water away from homes are only a few inches wide and are only meant to take water, toilet roll and human waste."

School delighted with Amazon gift

PUPILS at a primary school in Rugeley were given a donation from Amazon that will help them with both work and play.

Youngsters at Etching Hill Primary School, Penk Drive, were given 25 Kindle devices from the local Amazon fulfilment centre, along with a £2,000 donation so they can purchase their favourite e-books.

The school received the donation after being nominated by the charity committee and associates at Amazon in Rugeley.

Some of the pupils at the school have parents who work at the site on Towers Business Park.

The charity committee were present as pupils collected the Kindles. The pupils were joined in the assembly hall by Fantastic Mr Fox after one of the Amazon team dressed as the character for the special occasion.

Mark Hemming, Amazon site leader in Rugeley, said: "At Amazon we love reading and we are delighted to be able to provide 25 Kindle devices to this fantastic local school."

Etching Hill deputy head Zoe Parsons said: "The pupils, staff and parents at Etching Hill Primary School are over the moon with this donation. The Kindle devices will be a valuable resource at the school pupils will use them during guided reading sessions."

Spending lots on sink estates not the answer

FROM what we are constantly being told, you would be forgiven for thinking we lived in times of austerity, what with museums, libraries and police stations closing left, right and centre.

But when it comes to the sort of grandiose, 'legacy' projects that all politicians love, it is amazing how easy it is to find the odd £100 million or so. This week the Prime Minister pledged to end problems with crime, gangs, drugs and unemployment by splashing out £140 million on transforming Britain's 100 worst estates.

I think we know the drill. Spectacular footage of 1950s tower blocks crashing to the ground, 'partnerships' with construction companies, the mayor in a high-viz jacket laying the foundation stone. And a few months down the line, reports start filtering through about peaceful neighbourhoods disrupted by "problem" families which have been relocated.

Do they really think it is that easy? Give the local gang leader a shiny new flat and solar panels, and he turns into a stalwart of the neighbourhood watch committee?

The sad truth is there are some people with a less-than-healthy attitude towards their neighbours, and they do have to live somewhere— somewhere that is nowhere near us. We don't need to demolish the sink estates, just move the law-abiding residents out. Leave the asbo families to fight it out among themselves.

WOLVERHAMPTON is not a city. The Black Country doesn't exist. And all the major towns of the West Midlands are really just suburbs of Birmingham.

Yes, that is the criteria of the not-especially thoughtful think-tank Centre for Cities, which argues that because the area between the West Midlands' major towns and cities are predominantly built up, they all count as a single economic area. And yet, because there is a strip of greenery between the Black Country and Telford, the new town actually does constitute a city, even though it doesn't have what most of us would recognise as a town or city centre.

They probably don't realise this, but in the rush hour you can drive from the Black Country to Telford in about half an hour, the same journey to Brum will take double, maybe treble that. So which will have the closer economic ties?

The worrying thing is, when we get the combined authority forced on us, it will be think-tanks like this advising local and central government on where the money should go. Just bostin, ay it?

Watercolour artist Andy Crabb checks out his work at Cannock Library

FROM the war memorial in 1926 to the old Brumby bike shop, local artist Andy Crabb has his latest exhibition on show at Cannock library.

The exhibition centres around Andy's love for classic bikes, but also features paintings of Cannock in days past including one of the town centre in the 1950s.

An image of Linford's, now the Wether-spoon Linford Arms pub, is included as well as children walking on walls and playing on the witch's hat, an old playground favourite.

"I started painting pictures of them, and before I knew it, people were asking me to do paintings of their bikes.

"My wife said I should do more scenic work, and Cannock has some great things to paint.

"I tend to get old black and white photographs and paint from them.

"If the place is still there, then I'll go down myself and check any finer details."

Andy also paid tribute to his wife Anita, who he said has supported him with his paintings.

He said: "She's brilliant and encourages me all the time. When I'm doing my paintings, I'm in the conservatory, so I'm out of her way.

"Whenever I have a new painting, she shares it on her Facebook page as well – she's very supportive."

As well as his current exhibition at Cannock library, which Andy says was arranged at very short notice, he also has a second exhibition going up in the library in October. He has also previously exhibited in Lichfield.

All of Andy's work can be viewed on his Facebook page Andy Crabb Art. Anyone interested in buying his paintings can email him at a.crabb767@gmail.com or call 07950 877625.

Bruno Mars tribute gig in memory of Stephen

Brandon Mazumder and The MBs will be performing at the Lichfield Garrick this weekend

UPTOWN Funk will be alive and kicking when a Bruno Mars tribute band comes to Lichfield this weekend.

Fans of the internationally acclaimed singer will be in for a treat when a concert is held in memory of inspirational teenager Stephen Sutton.

Brandon Mazumder, aged 19, known as Bran Mazz, will bring his live band The MBs to the Garrick's main stage on Saturday.

Proceeds will go towards the Teenager Cancer Trust. Garrick spokeswoman Rhiannon Brearley said: "The sensational tribute show is in a whole new league of entertainment."

"It mixes the best of Bruno Mars but also blends some of the greatest 'old skool soul' and funk classics."

"The show also features a Rihanna tribute artist as a guest and the super funky sounds of DJ Mylez."

Tickets for the gig, which starts at 7.30pm, cost £17.50 and £14 for students.

Parties back this stupidity

THREE political parties strive to display how they are brilliant and the others stupid (Letters, January 7).

I suggest the Liberals, Greens, Labour and Tories deserve a stupidity garland.

During the last Coalition parliament, cuts saved £36 billion yet we gave £87bn to the Brussels dictatorship.

All those parties support continuing this stupidity. To spend our money where it's needed, there is only one sure way - Vote Leave.

GRAHAME WIGGIN
Cannock Chase UKIP

Anthem is the dullest

BRITAIN has the most uninspiring, dullest national anthem in the world.

What other nation sings the praises of a bunch of unelected royals who live a life of luxury funded with taxpayers' money? Let us have an anthem that praises the citizens of Britain and the sacrifices they made to make this country great.

M FINN

Rethink needed on town improvements

AS a concerned ex-resident of Cannock I note that yet again the council are suggesting a revamp of the town centre. I am amazed that they are still applying 1980s thinking to a 2016 issue.

New radical thinking is required. Two issues have to be addressed - initially to get people into town and, secondly, to attract passing trade through relevant car parking.

Nowadays successful town centres are built around suitable living accommodation. This has been achieved in Hednesford. Why not in Cannock?

When people live in the town they use town centre shops and people visiting residents use the shops too. A town centre has to offer something different from a retail park.

Continue to keep through traffic away. It has already been successfully diverted around the town centre. In addition a low-speed one-way system is required around the shopping areas, allowing limited-time free parking for local shoppers. Currently this is only available in the Church Street area, which is always busy but, when motorists cannot find a parking space there, most of them drive off. They do not go to alternative car parks.

DAVID WILLIAMS
Great Haywood

Don't let them get away with fly-tipping

ANOTHER day, another report of travellers setting up camp on a small piece of grassy land. We then of course have the worry of what mess they will leave behind when they eventually decide to leave.

It seems that councils all over the West Midlands and Staffordshire, indeed the whole of the UK, will not grasp this nettle. Mess that is left behind is fly-tipping. Anybody else is hauled before the courts, quite rightly too, in order to answer and to pay for leaving rubbish behind instead of disposing of it properly at one of the many local authority waste management sites. Our local councils seem to be too frightened to pursue 'travellers' with regard to fly-tipping.

I have yet to read of a report where a group of travellers have been taken to court for the mess they leave behind.

Perhaps I could suggest a new year's resolution for all of our local councils? Pursue everybody who commits the offence of fly-tipping, not just the 'one man band builders' and 'man with a van' types.

Men are bristling with pride

WE would like to thank all the men who took part in Beating Bowel Cancer's December fundraising campaign last month.

December, which asks men to ditch their razors and grow a beard throughout December, is a fun way for individuals or teams to raise funds and increase awareness of the disease.

It's simple to take part in, and thousands signed up to it again last month. We'd like to thank every one of them for their support.

The many thousands of pounds raised in sponsorship will help the charity to support bowel cancer patients and their families and to raise awareness of the disease, its symptoms and the need for early diagnosis.

If anyone has any queries or concerns about bowel cancer, there's lots of information on our website or they can call our Nurse Helpline on 020 8973 0011.

MARK FLANNAGAN,

Our police should not be treated this way

DESPITE the promises made by George Osborne about protecting police budgets following the Paris bombings, the Government have slashed police grants by £200 million.

Figures from the Commons library show that government grants to the 43 police forces in England & Wales have been cut by 2.7 per cent overall compared to last year.

The Tories have now (quietly) admitted that the police share of council tax will have to increase by the maximum allowed, just to maintain forces' funding at existing levels.

It is a government's duty to protect its citizens' safety. Our police work extremely hard to keep us safe and should not be treated in this underhand way.

County Councillor for Hednesford & Rawsley

Justice seems to be less important than the cost

THE complaints about the state of the law in the Josh Morgan case rather miss the point.

The real ass is not so much the law, as the person at the Crown Prosecution Service who made the decision to charge his attackers with the lesser crime of grievous bodily harm rather than GBH with intent.

There was clearly evidence upon which the more serious charge could have been preferred, and if necessary left to the jury to decide. No doubt the CPS decided upon the lesser charge in the hope of encouraging guilty pleas and thereby saving public money; part of the same thinking that lets prisoners out of jail when they have served half their sentence or even less. Nowadays it would seem that justice is less important than money.

Jason sparkles at slimming awards

Jason Donovan with Slimming World consultants Rose Ward, Maddie Price, Rachel Shirley, Emma Taylor, Kim Squires, Suzi Rigby, Rachel Bailey and Liz Farrell

A GROUP of Slimming World consultants are feeling ready to make any weight-loss dream come true after meeting legendary soap actor and pop star Jason Donovan. The team, who run Slimming World groups in Rugeley and Cannock, were delighted to have a chance to get up close to the Australian celebrity at the annual Slimming World Awards in Birmingham. "I felt very honoured to represent Slimming World groups in Rugeley and Cannock when we met Jason," said

Liz Farrell, adding: "I couldn't be prouder of our members. They've lost fantastic amounts of weight throughout 2015, with many of them making their weight-loss dreams come true by hitting their target weight, improving their health and more."

Donovan co-hosted the event with the organisation's chair and founder Margaret Miles-Bramwell. He said he was thrilled to meet the Slimming World consultants at the event, held at the International Convention Centre.

Fire boss must save £1.4m

STAFFORDSHIRE'S fire service has announced it will have to save £1.43 million in the next financial year. It has come as a direct result of cuts to its annual grant from the Government which will fall to £8.04m in 2016-17 from £9.47m this year.

Despite the reduction Peter Dartford, chief officer at Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service, promised that public safety would not be compromised. He said: "As the Government continues with its austerity measures, in Staffordshire we are continuing to balance the books in a careful and considered manner, while ensuring that our firefighters and residents are protected."

"We anticipated cuts and have planned our finances accordingly to ensure that we can meet the needs of our communities, both in terms of frontline firefighting and vital prevention work which has played an important role in helping to reduce incidents, and ultimately, save lives."

"However, the Government's announcement will see reductions implemented on a faster scale than we had envisaged. This means that the transformation of our service will continue to remain a key priority in the coming years to enable us to deliver the significant savings required as part of the austerity agenda."

Last year the service axed more than 40 posts which saw reductions to cover at Cannock and Rugeley stations.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

£5,000 grant will help company in bid to Grow

CANNOCK-BASED Goodfish Ltd has secured a Let's Grow Programme grant to help grow the business and create one extra full-time post.

Goodfish Ltd, toolmakers and injection moulders, have received a grant of £5,000. The funding will be used to purchase a new piece of machinery which will increase productivity and take the pressure off already overloaded machines.

The Let's Grow Programme is funded by Chase Community Partnership and is aimed at helping small to medium sized businesses in the Cannock Chase district to grow and expand.

Councillor Gordon Alcott, economic development and planning portfolio leader, said: "Goodfish Ltd have benefitted greatly from this successful programme.

"The grant they have received means that they will have the extra capacity to produce additional work at their premises in Cannock.

Expand

"This is a great example of what the programme can do for local businesses."

Jamie Kerin, financial controller of Goodfish Ltd, said: "The funding we received from the Let's Grow Programme has allowed us to expand our range of machines and increase our headcount.

"Our expansion has been accelerated as a direct result of this fantastic programme run by Cannock Chase Council.

"The application process was quick and easy and the support we received from the economic regeneration team was excellent," Mr Kerin added.

The Let's Grow Programme has to date successfully helped 10 businesses in Cannock Chase.

New grant programmes will be available during 2016.

If you are a small to medium sized business in the Cannock Chase district and would like more details about the scheme, contact the economic development team at Cannock Chase Council on 01543 464272.

Back to school for Players

Laughs guaranteed - The Lichfield Players are preparing for their latest production, 'Daisy Pulls It Off'

The Lichfield Players promise to beam rays of warmth and laughter into January with their latest production, 'Daisy Pulls It Off' by Denise Deegan.

Performed in the main auditorium of the Garrick Theatre, this St Trinian's-style comedy is great entertainment for the whole family.

It's 1927 and Daisy Meredith has just been accepted into the hallowed halls of Grangewood School for Girls as their first ever scholarship pupil. But it's not all jolly hockey sticks. Frightful snobs Sybil and Monica delight in dreaming up ghastly schemes and schoolgirl pranks to get the new girl expelled.

However, ably assisted by her new best friend Trixie, beating the bullies becomes just one in a series of deliciously irresistible adventures for the ever-energetic Daisy.

The production runs from Wednesday, January 20, to Saturday, January 23. Tickets are £14 Wed/Thurs (students £12) and £15 Fri/Sat (students £13).

Call Andy Lowe on 07407 477013 for further details.

Guest gives everyone a good 'loff'

Hednesford A TWG

THE speaker for the December meeting was David Bartley who 'ad a lot ter say 'bout Black Country life.

He 'med' everyone 'loff' with his humour and innuendos, making the Christmas party extra special.

A special thank you goes to the committee members, who organised the supply of the lovely buffet, decorated the festive tables and served refreshments.

At the Guild meeting in January, the club will be welcoming Mick and Sylvia Fawdrey from the Mission Aviation Fellowship.

Twenty one Hednesford members attended the Christmas Luncheon Club meal held at the Barns in Huntington. Everyone was very impressed by the festive decorations, the plentiful food portions and the care and attention from the waiting staff. The January Luncheon Club meeting will be held at Sizzlings, formerly Mill Farm.

Six members, plus a friend and a couple of husbands, travelled with Parry's coaches to Thursford for a few days to enjoy the hotel's Christmas Spectacular. They were impressed with the travel company, the comfort of the hotel, the excellent choice of menu, the entertainment and the laughter the members themselves generated.

Guild meetings are held on the second Monday of each month at 2pm at St Peter's Church Hall, Hednesford. Call 01543 877987.

Demonstrating life as a Tudor pauper

Alan Rawlins, president Lynne Tuckley and Trish Mellor

SI Cannock & District

PRESIDENT Lynne Tuckley welcomed more than 80 Sopranoists and their guests to their Christmas celebration when they were entertained by 'Master Henry'.

Alan Rawlins is a steward at Little Moreton Hall, a National Trust property in Cheshire and is a member of the education team.

Little Moreton Hall demonstrates Tudor life for the majority of the population at the time - the poor.

Alan, as Master Henry, dressed in the clothing of a Tudor peasant, gave a taste of life experienced by more than 95 per cent of people in Tudor Britain.

A 'volunteer' was chosen to demonstrate the clothing for a poor woman of the Tudor era and 'Mistress Trish' was dressed in the linen petticoat, bustle, corset, overdress, jacket and bed hat and bonnet.

The bed hat was worn to protect the head from bugs as they slept on mattresses of straw.

£83 raised for air ambulance

SECRETARY Sue Davidson welcomed everyone, especially new members, guests from Cannock and Hayes Green and President Margaret Beddard - happily recovered from a short illness - to the Christmas party.

A visit from Father Christmas with a present for everyone got the party started, then it was time to tuck into the fabulous buffet provided by Em Barker.

A competition for the person best dressed in the spirit of Christmas was won by Rose

Shareshill WI

Lynk with Pauline Sawbridge and Joyce Webb runners-up. Instead of sending cards, members made donations to the Midlands Air Ambulance Fund raising £83.

Entertainment was provided by husband and wife duo "Jagged to Jones" with a medley of popular songs and Christmas favourites.

Mining slump led to job cuts at engineering firm

A BURNTWOOD engineering firm where more than 40 jobs were lost had suffered cash-flow problems after it was 'over-exposed to a contracting mining industry', administrators have said.

Aldridge Fabrications was left with no viable option for the business to continue as a going concern, a statement from FRP Advisory said.

The company, which was founded more than half a century ago, closed sites at Coppice Side, Brownhills, and Prenton in Merseyside, and a factory in Hungary. Jobs were also lost at the business's site at Chase Road, Brownhills, while 34 were made redundant at the headquarters in Mount Road, Burntwood.

Difficulties

However, after FRP Advisory were called in on December 18, the remaining 58 workers at the two sites, as well as in Dilhorne near Stoke-On-Trent and at Birtley in Tyne & Wear, were saved last week in a buyout by a newly formed group called Aldridge Fabrications (AF) Ltd.

The company, which was a specialist in making equipment for mines, faced difficulties with the global mining industry slump over the past three years, as the price of iron, coal and other metals fell dramatically, largely because demand from the huge Chinese economy dried up.

A statement from FRP Advisory said: "Company turnover had declined for the past few years as the business was over-exposed to a contracting mining industry, resulting in unsustainable pressure on the company's cash flow."

"Aldridge Fabrications was restructured in order to try and ease cash flow but the decline in income from the mining business was too severe."

Business leader's action call

CHASE Chamber director Chris Plant has called on government ministers to make 2016 a year of action, with the ultimate aim of putting the UK economy on a strong and more sustainable footing.

"At the start of 2016, neither ministers nor businesses can afford to be complacent," he said.

"We may have solid levels of economic growth, but there are many clouds on the horizon that could ultimately push Britain into a new economic storm."

"It's time to get real. The UK has been too reliant on consumer spending and asset transactions, driven by increased borrowing, for far too long, and this leaves the economy at risk."

"We have seen it before - when interest rates begin to rise, businesses and consumers are left exposed."

"There's so much that needs to be done, from infrastructure and tax to skills and export support - 2016 must be a year of action, focused on preparing the British economy for the future."

"Building a true partnership between government and business, like so many other successful economies around the world, is absolutely essential," Mr Plant added.

LAW firm Shakespeare Martineau has donated £5,000 to the Cannock-based Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children to help two families to fund specialist care for their children.

The charity provides care for disabled and terminally ill children by providing equipment, nurse-led support services and funding for medical research.

Henry Hogan, aged six, and Courteney James, 17, who both have ongoing conditions that affect their daily lives have received the donation from Shakespeare Martineau to improve their quality of life. Henry from Great Barr has autism which impairs his speech and hearing, and he also lacks a sense of danger.

Such factors require Henry to have a secure place to sleep if staying away from the family home.

The donation has meant that Henry now has access to a safe-space voyager which will allow him to sleep comfortably and in a protected environment while in respite care or when visiting his grandparents.

Courteney, who lives in Coventry, suffers from Ehler-Danlos Syndrome, which is a collection of inherited conditions that cause Courteney to be unable to move independently and fully reliant on a wheelchair.

In order to increase her independence and mobility, Courteney requires a lightweight wheelchair to prevent severe discomfort when self-propelling, and Shakespeare Martineau's charitable donation has gone a long way towards making this a reality.

Ed Postlethwaite, legal director at Shakespeare Martineau, said: "It has been a pleasure to meet and support such inspirational families."

From work colleagues to 60 years of wedded bliss

Eric and Kathleen Jones from Hednesford looking at one of their anniversary cards celebrating 60 years together

A COUPLE from Hednesford have celebrated 60 years of wedded bliss.

Eric and Kathleen Jones, who are 85 and 78 years old, celebrated the magical milestone with family and friends.

Their only child Mel, 58, said the secret to their long years together was simple - 'a bit of give and take on both sides, but mum is in charge'.

Eric met his future wife as he was friends with one of her brothers.

The pair hit it off immediately, started courting and tied the knot on Boxing Day in 1955. They have three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren - including identical triplets. Mel said: "Mum and dad both worked together for a number of years at Dorman Diesels in Stafford. Dad became the union convenor and mum was one of the chief inspectors."

Mr and Mrs Jones have lived at a number of addresses in the town. Mel said: "My dad is very well known locally for being an outgoing character, he's always very jolly and bubbly, always leading a sing-song."

"Mum is a lot quieter and shyer, but she ruled the roost."

"I think there was definitely a lot of give and take on both sides, but mum is in charge - she is a very strong lady."

JCB joy at 100,000th mini excavator

An impressive number – staff at JCB Compact Products celebrate reaching the production milestone

JCB has celebrated the production of its 100,00th mini excavator. The machines were first manufactured at the company's plant in Rugeley before production switched to JCB Compact Products in 1999 to cater for a rapid expansion of the range.

The first mini excavator – an 801 model weighing in at 1.4 tonnes – rolled off the production line in 1989 when just over 450 machines were made.

By 1992 there were four models in the range and annual production rates had risen to 1,000 units. The company last week celebrated the production of its 100,000th compact excavator – a 10-tonne 100C-1, one of 22 models in a range which now spans from one to 10-tonne excavators.

All are manufactured at the JCB Compact Products factory in Cheadle.

The world of mini excavator's is big business, with almost 200,000 sold every year and 20 manufacturers fighting it out for a slice of the market.

Royal photos to be sold

SIGNED portraits of the Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret will be sold at auction next week.

Both portraits were taken and signed by Cecil Beaton, who often photographed members of the Royal Family for official publication. He was one Britain's leading war photographers and probably best known for his images of the German Blitz.

The portrait of the Queen, taken in 1949, shows her wearing an evening gown designed by the couturier and official dressmaker to the Queen, Norman Hartnell. It is signed 'Elizabeth R'. The portrait of HRH Princess Margaret is dated 1960 and shows her wearing her wedding dress, on the occasion of her marriage to Anthony Armstrong-Jones. This was the first televised royal wedding, with more than 20 million viewers tuning in. The portrait is signed 'Margaret'.

Both portraits will be in a collector's sale at Lichfield-based Richard Winterton Auctioneers on Wednesday at the Crosskeys salerooms.

Car thieves ransack home 16

CAR key burglars raided a house in Hednesford before stealing a silver Audi A6. The thieves made a mess while ransacking the property in St Patrick Close where they also stole a television, laptop and cash. They fled in the Audi A6 which belonged to the homeowner. It took place between Thursday night and the early hours of Friday. Neighbourhood watch spokeswoman Ronnie Turner said: "Please warn your neighbours to be on their guard and observant at all times and make sure all vehicles keys are hidden away." Anyone with information should call 101.

Chief under fire after 'welcoming' police cuts

STAFFORDSHIRE Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis has come under fire after he 'welcomed' cuts to police budgets.

He said on his website that the county's force should look at spending more wisely rather than asking for more cash. It follows an announcement that grants would be cut by up to five per cent.

Mr Ellis, who said he had feared the cuts would be around 20 per cent, published his comments in an article headlined 'PCC Welcomes '2% to 5%' Cuts To Policing Settlement'.

But he has been criticised by the leader of Cannock Chase Council, Councillor George Adamson, who said the police chief should be campaigning to maintain police budgets rather than welcoming cuts of any kind.

He said: "Matthew Ellis should be fighting to at least maintain police budgets in view of the many threats we face today such as terrorism and cyber-crime instead of welcoming further cuts.

Planned

"It is a government's duty to protect its citizens' safety."

Staffordshire Police has already saved £38 million since 2011 with cuts being made to officer numbers and underused rural police stations being forced to close resulting in tens of job losses. The force had planned to save another £38m by 2020.

In response to Councillor Adamson, Mr Ellis said: "Councillor Adamson appears to take the view that spending more public money on services automatically makes it better, regardless of how well the money is spent."

"My view is that it's not just how much money is spent on public services but how well that money is spent."

Shadow police minister Jack Dromey said: "For a Tory PCC to welcome cuts would be laughable if it were not so serious."

By Jordan Harris

spent on public services but how well that money is spent.

"In the three years since becoming PCC, the financial position for policing and safety services in Staffordshire has improved significantly and also a greater proportion of the money available goes to supporting frontline services."

"Spending the money available better has also allowed one of the most ambitious investment programmes in technology in the UK to ensure police have the tools to do the job more efficiently in Staffordshire. Dealing with waste-ful spend here is allowing new and future investment, firming up the finances and putting policing across Staffordshire on a firm footing."

"But it's also allowed me to provide more money than ever before to local councils, including Cannock Chase, for community safety across their area."

"We have to spend the public's money better, not simply ask for more and more all the time which I think is what the leader of Cannock Chase is suggesting."

Shadow police minister Jack Dromey said: "For a Tory PCC to welcome cuts would be laughable if it were not so serious."

MP speaks out on 'barmy idea' for super force

MERGING the West Midlands and Staffordshire police forces to create a super force is a 'barmy idea' that will lead to more crime, an MP claims.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson said rural areas would lose out as more resources were pumped into cities. He said it was clear Wolverhampton and Dudley already lost out being tied to Birmingham.

"This is a barmy idea and one that has no support from my constituents," he added. "We know full well what would happen - rural crime would drop down in the priority."

"You can see that crime in His comments come after outgoing West Midlands Chief Constable Chris Sims said he regretted more had not been done to merge forces into super forces or work closer together."

Mr Williamson, a parliamentary aide to David Cameron, said: "Police chiefs should be less concerned with empire building and more concerned with serving their existing communities."

A forgotten queen is finally given her due

Queen Anne, Swan Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon
LAST monarch of the Stuart line, Queen Anne is almost a forgotten queen, never celebrated like Elizabeth I or Victoria. But her reign came at a time when the modern age was emerging with party politics and paparazzi-style pamphlets on the streets.

Helen Edmundson's absorbing new play finally brings Queen Anne out of the shadows of history and gives her the limelight she deserves in a five-star 18th century dress production by the Royal Shakespeare Company.

Lean and swiftly-paced by director Natalie Abrahami, it also has many resonances for our times, such as the shaky union with Scotland, kiss-and-tell scandal and political intrigue.

What makes the play so compelling, is that it is the story of two women — the sickly, needy Anne, and the glamorous, ambitious Sarah Churchill, Duchess of Marlborough, whose husband John is the hero general of the age.

When we first encounter Anne she is still a princess, her stropky Dutch brother-in-law King William apparently eager to sideline her due to her inability to produce an heir after several miscarriages and the death of her young son.

She is also under the influence of the Duchess, upon whom she clearly has a crush, or maybe it is that she sees the woman she wants to be.

But when she unexpectedly becomes queen, Anne gradually finds the courage and confidence to become a real ruler rather than a puppet for power-hungry individuals and factions.

There are not enough roles in theatre for women aged over 30 but here we have two and the actors to make the most of them. Natascha McElhone is splendidly haughty and charismatic as the beautiful, confident Duchess, who finally over-reaches herself. Emma Cunniffe as Anne, who came to the role late because of the withdrawal of another actor, is utterly convincing as Anne, sad and hesitant but with a heart of English oak.

There are many excellent supporting roles, including Beth Park as the no-nonsense Abigail Hill, who helps Anne find her confidence, and Jonathan Broadbent, as the comically tentative schemer Robert Harley, a blueprint for today's politicians.

Anyone who enjoyed the machinations and drama of Wolf Hall would surely also be impressed by Queen Anne. It continues at the Swan until January 23.

£100k fake DVDs racket lands fraudster in prison

A FRAUDSTER from Penkridge caught buying and selling bogus DVDs in a scam worth nearly £100,000 on ebay has been jailed. Paul Foster imported fake box sets of hit TV series from China and had them delivered to his home.

He then sold thousands of the DVDs on the auction website without the necessary consent of trademark owners, Stafford Crown Court heard.

The 51-year-old swindler also attempted to reduce the amount of import duty paid on the illicit goods by falsely claiming the packages of DVDs contained photo albums.

Work soon to start on 330 homes

PERSIMMON Homes plans to start work on a new development in Penkridge in the next eight weeks.

The company obtained planning permission at the end of December for the first 50 homes on the Lyne Hill development site.

John Cosgrave, managing director of the firm's West Midlands business, said he and his team were ready for the challenges ahead.

"Here in the West Midlands our focus is on delivery of a range of homes to suit all buyers, whether they are first-time home purchasers or people looking to move up the ladder."

"We plan to start work on our new development in Penkridge early in the first half of this year, and we are actively working with local authorities to gain planning permission in Dudley, Lichfield, Bridgnorth and Cannock for the second half of 2016 and beyond," he added.

Up to 330 homes in total are expected to be built at Lyne Hill.

The titles included Downton Abbey, Mr Selfridge, House of Cards and How I Met Your Mother.

Despite it being his first offence, Judge Mark Eades sentenced Foster to 16 months in prison, citing the scale of his deception. He had previously pleaded guilty to one count of participating in a fraudulent business and nine counts of possessing goods with a false trademark for sale or hire.

Unravel

The court heard Foster had been a legitimate trader selling films since 1998 until July 2014.

But prosecutor Tony Watkin said he then shifted to a 'large scale' fraud operation which began to unravel after just three months when a courier reported concerns about packages being delivered to Foster's home in Walhouse Drive.

The firm intercepted a subsequent package in which 815 bogus DVD box sets were discovered.

Foster was reported to Staffordshire Trading Standards which searched the address in January last year and recovered 1,816 box sets worth around £40,000. Via Ebay he recorded sales totalling around £60,000.

Foster, who represented himself in court, said he only benefitted from up to £20,000 in profits from the goods.

£100k investment is just the job

Gavin Stevens at work at Icon Exhibitions and Display in Norton Canes

A CANNOCK company has invested almost £100,000 in new equipment and processes in the last 12 months to increase its working capacity, and has achieved its best year of sales ever as a result.

Exhibition design and construction company Icon Exhibitions and Display of Watling Street Business Park, Norton Canes, has invested in various new equipment and processes for its 10,000 sq ft premises to improve working efficiency, including new warehouse racking and extra tooling.

The company has also embraced some of the principles of lean management, and has invested in shadowboards and other such tools to help increase shopfloor workflow and improve processes.

Highest

As a result, this year the company has achieved turnover of more than £1 million – the highest figure it has ever reached in its 20-year history of designing, manufacturing and installing exhibition stands throughout the UK and overseas.

Two new jobs have been created as a result, taking the workforce to 13. Managing director of Icon Exhibitions, Wayne Ball, said: "The investments are definitely benefitting the business." "It's allowed our employees to work even smarter and our prices to be even more competitive as we can produce more in-house."

Hearing aid cuts put back six months

PLANS to reduce the provision of hearing aids for people in South Staffordshire look set to be put back by six months.

Clinical Commissioning Groups were due to cut funding for the devices for people with mild to moderate hearing loss from April.

The move would have affected around 15 per cent of people with hearing problems in Cannock, Hednesford, Rugeley, Stafford and Stone, as well as parts of south Staffordshire.

But following a public meeting on the proposal last year, health bosses have now said the current contract will be extended until September. Andrew Donald, accountable officer for Cannock Chase and Stafford & Surrounds CCGs, said: "We now recognise the strength of feeling generated by the proposal to introduce eligibility criteria for access to the provision of NHS hearing aids."

"This was expressed both on the day and through the contact we have had with local people and we do not believe there is any value in proceeding to a full consultation exercise."

"We will extend the contracts until September, by which time we are expecting some guidance to be produced by the Hearing Loss Advisory Group who are producing guidance for commissioners on the implementation of the Hearing Loss Action Plan."

Martin to hang up his specs after 27 years

A LOCAL opticians will mark a special milestone this month as the store director retires after almost three decades.

Martin Shaw, who opened the doors to Cannock Specsavers in 1988, will hang up his specs at the end of January. During his 27 years as director, the store has gone from strength to strength, welcoming more than 87,000 customers and building a team of more than 20 staff.

Shock as car wheels stolen during night

The wheels were stolen from Bekki Wall's Vauxhall Corsa while the car was in Haling Road, Penkridge

A NURSERY nurse woke to find all four of her car's alloy wheels had been stolen while she slept. Rebecca Wall, of Coven, was staying at a friend's house in Haling Road, Penkridge, on Friday night when the theft took place.

She was woken by a neighbour on Saturday, who asked if she knew her car wheels had been stolen. The 22-year-old said she thought he was joking but was shocked to find her car had no tyres. All four of the alloy wheels, believed to be worth more than £1,000, had been removed while she slept.

The car was left with house bricks, which appear to have been used by the thieves to lift the car. The theft happened despite the wheels having lock wheel nuts. "I could not believe it," she said. "Who goes to the effort to steal wheels?"

"I put an appeal on Facebook and a couple of girls from the Stafford area have been in touch telling me they have also had their wheels taken. It appears limited edition Corsas are being targeted, apparently there have been two other incidents in Stafford if not more in the past week.

"I just don't understand how they managed to even to do it - I am just in shock," she added.

Anyone with information should contact Staffordshire Police on 101 quoting incident number 252 of January 09.

Anger at fee to transfer from terror stab resort

A HEATH HAYES father of two due to take his family on a £3,000 holiday to the Egyptian resort targeted on Friday by terrorists is angry after being told he cannot change the booking without a financial penalty.

Justin Hawthorne, aged 39, had organised a two-week break at the Red Sea resort of Hurgada.

Three foreign tourists were stabbed by two suspected Islamic State militants who stormed a hotel, armed with knives, and were shot by police.

Mr Hawthorne, who runs his own catering business, said he does not want to risk taking his wife Beci and their daughters, aged 11 and seven, since news of the attack emerged. But he has been told he will have to pay a penalty of £280 to switch destinations, plus the difference in price if the flights are more expensive.

The holiday was organised before the loss in October of a Russian plane, leading to have been brought down by a bomb in the hold, leading the UK and other countries to halt flights to Sharm el-Sheikh, also on the Red Sea, citing security fears. Mr Hawthorne, of Sweetbriar Way, said: "Our holiday company, Travel Republic, is saying their hands are tied because the Government is not warning people not to go there.

"We're not asking for a refund, we just want to change destinations, but we're being told we have to pay £70 per person to do so, which seems unfair.

"By having to change the holiday to a later date, it puts the price up again, and the whole cost starts to spiral out of control."

He said he and wife, who works for Tesco, talk about the problem nightly. "We've got a bit of time to play with but we'll have to make a decision soon," he said.

Ale team polish the glasses in preparation for festival

MORE than 30 real ales will be available at Lichfield Winter Beer Festival at the city's Guildhall on January 22 and 23.

Most of the ales have been sourced from local and regional breweries, and include Cloughie's Clout, Punch & Judy, Holly Austin, Funny Farm and Golden Newt.

Enjoyed

There will also be traditional ciders and perry, specialist bottled beers, a choice of wines, good quality food such as the 'Famous Pork Pies' as well as a wide range of soft drinks for drivers. Entertainment will be laid on by a covers band called Last Orders on the Friday evening and Sixties specialists Made in Britain on the Saturday.

The festival is open midday-11pm Friday and midday-10pm Saturday. Admission is £2 before 6pm and £3 after.

Lichfield Arts president Brian Pretty said: "These festivals are great community events, enjoyed by all, attracting many much-needed visitors to the city, which boosts the local economy."

For further information about the festival and to book tickets, go to www.lichfieldarts.org.uk or call 01543 262223.

Trust to take over managing 'haven'

Councillor Andy Smith, left, chats with Staffordshire Wildlife Trust chief executive Julian Woolford on Gentleshaw Common, which is a Site of Special Scientific Interest

A NATURE reserve described as a 'jewel in the crown' of Staffordshire will become a haven for wildlife as part of a long-term masterplan.

Staffordshire Wildlife Trust has signed a 99-year lease with Lichfield District Council to manage Gentleshaw Common, which is a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI).

It hopes it will be a popular choice for a host of wildlife, including birds, solitary bees and wasps, as well as many species of plants including bog asphodel, heather and fly-catching carnivorous plants. Meanwhile, work such as scrub clearance will also take place to make the 86-hectare site, which is north of Burntwood, a more attractive place to visit.

Julian Woolford, chief executive of Staffordshire Wildlife Trust, said: "Gentleshaw is a jewel in the crown of heathland sites in Staffordshire and becomes one of our largest nature reserves.

"It is a well-loved nature reserve and we will continue to ensure that it is an amazing place to visit, where people can get away from it all and enjoy the sights and sounds of nature."

"We will also be working to make sure that Gentleshaw Common is the best it can be for the rare heathland wildlife that lives there."

"As the county's leading nature conservation charity, we have a proven track record of caring for and improving special wild landscapes across Staffordshire and we are really looking forward to making Gentleshaw Common an even better place for people and wildlife."

Councillor Andy Smith, cabinet member for leisure and parks, said: "We're pleased to be working with Staffordshire Wildlife Trust to ensure the future of Gentleshaw Common."

"It's such a fantastic local resource with its beautiful environment, home to rare wet and dry heathland habitats, with a large range of wildlife."

Jaclyn Lake, from Natural England, has welcomed the project, saying: "Gentleshaw Common SSSI is a key part of the network of nationally important heathland sites throughout the West Midlands."

The new lease agreement will not affect public access to the common, which will remain open to all.

A volunteer work party has been set up on the second and fourth Wednesday of the month between 10.30am and 3pm, meeting at the parking area off Chorley Road at the end of Ogle Hay Road, Burntwood.

To book a place or for more information, contact Jeff Sim at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust on 01889 880100 or email j.sim@staffs-wildlife.org.uk

Beginners welcome on family tree course

CLASSES in family history are about to start again at Burntwood Library.

"My beginners' lessons – a six-week course – will take place either on Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning, or both, depending upon demand," said the course organiser, Pam Woodburn.

"It will include the basic steps in tracing your family tree and advice on how to avoid some of the pitfalls – and avoid expense.

"There will be an online element, and anyone interested should have basic computer skills. I am happy to discuss this with anyone who is not too sure about this."

Waiting

"I have been providing these lessons for many years and have close links with the Burntwood Family History Group, of whom I am a founder member. Anyone who is interested in attending, or just finding out more information about the lessons, should contact me on 01543 684208 – please leave a message if necessary – or email me at pam.woodburn@talktalk.net and I will get in touch.

"Unfortunately I was obliged to postpone my last course of lessons owing to my husband's ill health, and I believe there are people who are waiting to hear when they will be starting again."

Raw garage rock is in Hinds sight

ALBUMS

by Leon Burakowski

THE girly garage rock sound of young Spanish band Hinds has a ramshackle charm on their debut album Leave Me Alone.

They put a female slant on the sort of chaotic rock that's familiar from The Libertines and Palma Violets on San Diego and there is something oddly touching about I'll Be Your Man.

No one who has ever embraced the punk ethic can't help but enjoy their lo-fi chant-along rock 'n' roll with its vintage surf guitar sound.

Hinds will be in concert at Birmingham venue The Hare & Hounds, in Kings Heath, on February 23.

Handsworth singer Ruby Turner gets the showcase she deserves with the album Jools & Ruby, in which the vocal mainstay of Jools Holland's Rhythm and Blues Orchestra takes centre stage for a soul-stirring and foot-tapping selection of new and vintage songs.

Ruby has a voice as big and rich as her cheery personality and is second to none in the UK when it comes to singing soul, gospel, jazz, blues and reggae. All those genres and more are covered on this 22 track selection with top-notch tinkling of the ivories from her old pal Jools, the boogie woogie specialist, and classy rhythm and brass from the orchestra.

Highlights include her versions of Peace In The Valley, This Train, Honey Hush, the saucy My Country Man and new Ruby-Jools co-written song Play Have Mercy.

Cage The Elephant come from Kentucky but sound more like they hail from the UK with a sound influenced by Britpop, mod and glam rock. Hints

Hinds — lo-fi chant-along rock 'n' roll with a vintage surf guitar sound of The Kinks and Supergrass can be heard on their fourth album Tell Me I'm Pretty, produced by Dan Auerbach of The Black Keys. They are also contemporary enough to appeal to fans of Peace and The Temples.

Highlights include recent single Trouble, the Animals-like Cold Cold Cold and Marc Bolan meets The Monkees stomper That's Right.

Sometimes artists from the avant garde can make the finest, most sophisticated popular music, and people such as David Bowie, Brian Eno and Green Gartside spring to mind. Maybe it's something to do with de-constructing music to find out what makes it work.

Add the name of Julia Holter, a

31-year-old Californian who has pursued her own path over three experimental albums leading to her latest, Have You In My Wilderness. It is being described as a classic by some.

I missed it when originally released in the autumn and am grateful to have belatedly caught up. With her unconventional but appealing phrasing, she performs quirky pop songs and moody ballads in which, Bowie-like, she tends to play characters.

She is a fresh talent who could appeal to admirers of Kate Bush, Tori Amos and Alison Goldfrapp, even fans of more mainstream pop stars, such as Ellie Goulding and Lana Del Rey, could be drawn in by this intriguing, captivating album.

Hospice grateful for support in van hunt

Hospice driver Joe Hemmings with a van similar to the one that was stolen last month

A CHARITY has thanked people for their support as the search continues for a stolen van.

St Giles Hospice workers returned from the Christmas break to find the white Ford Transit had been taken from their Shenstone warehouse.

The theft of the van, which is still yet to be found, happened on December 27 at 6.40 pm. Since bosses launched their appeal for the van, it has been viewed over 138,000 times on Facebook and over 10,000 times on Twitter.

The hospice, which cares for the seriously ill, used the van to collect and deliver donations to its shops around the region. They have had one call from the member of the public with a possible sighting but it did not come to fruition. Emma Hodges, chief executive officer of the hospice, said: "We have had an overwhelming response and local support from people after we put the appeal for the van out, which is great, but we need to find it."

The stolen vehicle did not have any donations inside at the time it was stolen. The vehicle's last movement was recorded at 9.25 pm on December 27 at an unknown location.

It features green St Giles Hospice logos on either side of the vehicle and has the registration number YS11 YMM.

700 council vehicles in crashes in five years

MORE than 700 county council vehicles have been involved in crashes in the last five years, at a cost of £219,000 to taxpayers.

A total of 722 council owned or leased vehicles were involved in accidents between September 1, 2010 and September 30, 2015 including reversing into a wall, driving into the back of a fellow driver and hitting a gate.

These have cost taxpayers £219,000 in compensation, repairs and replacements.

Last year was the worst for accidents with 165. It began with 158 in 2010-11 but this slowly decreased to 153 in 2011-12, 137 in 2012-13 and to 109 in 2013-14, before it surged last year.

Dia Chakravarty, the political director of the TaxPayers' Alliance, said: "Accidents will happen but it is important that the council do all it can to ensure taxpayer-funded vehicles are well cared for and driven by responsible, qualified drivers."

"A spike in the number of breakdown or accidents last year is concerning. Let's hope 2016 sees a fall in those numbers." Not every accident was the fault of anything should change."

By Jack Avery

the council and its drivers, as some of the payouts were for vandalism and crashes which were the fault of another vehicle.

Staffordshire County Council put the number of crashes down to the sheer size of the area.

Jan Parry, deputy leader of Staffordshire County Council, and also the cabinet member for finance, strategy and corporate issues, said: "Staffordshire's a large, rural county and we have such a wide range of gritters, mobile libraries, vans and so on that staff drive many thousands of miles every year - often in difficult conditions. We look at accident trends to see if anything should change."

Come back after ten years? Corrs we can

AFTER a decade away, The Corrs have returned with a new album and tour, including a concert at Genting Arena, Birmingham, on Tuesday.

Between 1995, when The Corrs released their debut offering Forgiven, Not Forgotten, and 2005 when their fifth album Home was launched, the band saw album sales of more than 40 million.

Then, the soft rock family band from Dundalk, took a ten year break for solo projects. Now Jim, Sharon, Caroline and Andrea are back together with a new album, White Light, which entered the UK charts at No 11.

The siblings have been busy promoting the record over recent months. Youngest Corr and singer, Andrea, has noticed the change of pace.

Babies

"Where am I?" That's something I ask myself every day now," says the 41-year-old. "What am I doing here and where are my babies?"

Since the hiatus, Andrea's had two children — three-year-old Jean and Brett Jr who's just turned one — with husband Brett Desmond, who she married in 2009.

She says the band's reunion is only a recent plan, from January 2015, when Caroline suggested they try to write some new music.

"We all missed being in the band. We had gone off the radar, and there was no record company involvement or anything like that. No one knew we were going to make a comeback. But if one of us had reservations, we wouldn't be here either. It's all four of us, or none at all."

After a couple of days in the studio, they had more than enough ideas. "And that's the only reason we're here," adds Andrea.

"If the music was no good, I wouldn't be back. We're so excited about it, and playing together after 10 years not doing so."

By September, the quartet were on stage in front of 60,000 people at BBC Radio 2 Live in London's Hyde Park.

It will be worth turning up early to catch support group, rising star British country music duo The Shires.

Snow body does it better

CREATED by Birmingham Repertory Theatre 22 years ago, The Snowman has been delighting young and old alike for over two decades with its wonderful mix of storytelling, spectacle and magic.

Now, it returns to Birmingham Rep following a successful 18th festive year in London's West End.

Based on Raymond Briggs' book The Snowman and featuring Howard Blake's much-loved score, The Rep's production has been seen by over half a million people since it first came to the stage.

The enchanting show tells the story of a young boy's adventures when his snowman comes miraculously to life on Christmas Eve. Featuring a dazzling array of colourful characters, including dancing penguins, magical reindeer, a beautiful snow princess, and, of course, Father Christmas himself, The Snowman is a treat for all the family.

The Snowman first appeared as a beautifully illustrated picture book by Raymond Briggs in 1978. It has since inspired the classic Oscar-nominated, Bafta award-winning animated film, first broadcast by Channel 4 on Christmas Eve of 1982.

The magical stage production features Howard Blake's timeless musical score played by a live orchestra, and includes the signature song Walking in the Air.

The Snowman is the perfect introduction to theatre for the very young and is at the Centenary Square theatre from Wednesday (January 20) to January 24. The Snowman is directed by Bill Alexander and choreographed by Robert North with set and costume designs by Ruari Murchison.

Black Dyke bring the best of brass

THE world's most famous brass band comes to Birmingham for an afternoon concert on Sunday.

With 160 years of rich musical history, Yorkshire's Black Dyke Band is proud of its heritage but also looks to the future. Last year in Germany the Queensbury-based band represented England and won the European Brass Band Championships for the thirtieth time. Black Dyke Band is the most recorded brass band in the world with over 350 recordings and most successful contesting band having won the British Open 30 times and the National Championships of Great Britain 23 times.

The concert is at 2.30pm at the Symphony Hall.

Comedians make it a funny start to year

TOP American comic and actor Kevin Hart, who starred in Get Hard opposite Will Ferrell and in Grudge Match with Robert De Niro and Sylvester Stallone, brings his What Now? Tour to the Barclaycard Arena tomorrow (Fri).

Andrew Lawrence, who recently had a Radio 4 sitcom, There Is No Escape, is at The Slade Rooms in Wolverhampton on Saturday, the same night Stephen K Amos plays The Old Rep, next to New Street Station in Birmingham. Expect politically incorrect humour when Jim Davidson brings his Charlton Nil show to Wolverhampton Grand Theatre on Monday.

Magical music is a classical treat

ONE of classical music's most popular pieces will be brought to life when conductor Andrew Gourlay leads the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra through Rimsky-Korsakov's Scheherazade.

The matinee performances will take place today (Thu) at 2.15pm and again on Saturday at 3pm.

Gourlay will conduct pianist Alexander Romanovsky and the CBSO at Birmingham's Symphony Hall. The programme will also feature Ravel's own little book of musical fairytales, The Mother Goose Suite, and Rachmaninov's jazziest concerto, Piano Concerto No 4.

The Getaway Car (BBC1, 6.50pm)
Dermot O'Leary takes five pairs of contestants to the South African countryside, where he puts their nerves, driving and communication skills – and their relationships – to the test in a series of high-octane car-based challenges. The most successful duo receive a chance to pit their talents behind the wheel against those of Top Gear's resident stunt-driver the Stig. Should they triumph, the winners will claim a £10,000 cash prize and the title of Getaway Champions. The contest gets under way as firefighter Matt and his wife Nicola, studio recording duo Sas and Grant, railway workers Wayne and Illy, long-term couple Vicki and Lindsey and newly engaged pair Manuella and Jamie take a spin on the show's circuit.

Featuring a guest appearance by former England and Yorkshire fast bowler Fred Trueman. Vintage comedy first shown in 1970, starring Arthur Lowe and Bill Pertwee. 7.00 Live Snooker: The Masters. Hazel Irvine presents coverage of the second semi-final from Alexandra Palace, London, where the line-up for the final will be confirmed over the best of 11 frames. Shaun Murphy prevailed against Mark Allen with a 6-2 victory in last year's concluding semi-final, earning him a chance to claim the title in a contest against Neil Robertson. With commentary by Dennis Taylor, Ken Doherty, Stephen Hendry, John Virgo, Steve Davis and John Parrott. Subsequent programmes subject to change. 10.30 QI XL. Panellists Sue Perkins, Romesh Ranganathan, Bill Bailey and Alan Davies compete, as Stephen Fry hosts an extended edition of the irreverent quiz show. 11.15 Insert Name Here. Hugh Dennis, Omid Djalili, Roisin Conaty and Alice Roberts join captains Richard Osman and Josh Widdicombe to answer questions about famous people who share a name. 11.45 Dragons' Den. The panel of entrepreneurs casts an eye over more business ideas, including an innovative camping stove and a scheme involving hard-boiled eggs. Call the Midwife
(BBC1, 8pm)
Hot on the heels of the Christmas special comes the start of the period drama's fifth series. It's now 1961 and the winds of social change are starting to blow into Poplar – but that's not the only matter that's about to alter. The nurses' uniforms have had a tweak, enabling them to ditch their ill-fitting dresses for something with a more flattering cut. It's Easter when we catch up with the ladies, and Patsy's attention is taken by local mother Rhoda Mullucks who, along with her husband, struggles to cope after giving birth to a baby with severe deformities. Meanwhile, Trixie launches an exercise class that highlights how little Poplar's womenfolk know about their own bodies.

Joyce is still managing to have fun in the sun

With the departure of the Garveys at the end of the last season, many thought that ITV's sun-kissed comedy may have finally reached the end of its shelf life.

However, last week's hilarious series eight opener proved that there are still plenty of laughs to be had with the holidaymakers at the Solana.

Replacing the Garveys as the main family in the show are the Dawsons – Sheron (Julie Graham) and Eddie (Steve Edge) – hoping for a relaxing holiday with their children Rob (Josh Bolt) and Jodie (Honor Kneafsey).

However, in true Benidorm style, a peaceful time is not what they get, especially as Grandad 'Eddie' Dawson (Bobby Knutt) tags along.

In tonight's episode, Eddie attempts to make amends with his daughter in law Sheron, which is not easy. Julie Graham who plays the matriarch says:

"She's got a temper! She's not very pleased that Billy's father Eddie has gatecrashed the family holiday. It's putting her marriage under a huge strain. She feels like she's being made to hang out with a really annoying child.

"The theme running through the series with them is that Billy is trying to find the right moment to tell Sheron that Eddie is going to move in with them back home. He's obviously putting it off because he knows how she's going to react!"

Another former Solana resident, Tiger Dyke (Danny Walters), is back for a lads holiday and has brought his pal Joey Ellis (Nathan Bryon) along.

Tonight, the lads take a liking to new staff girl Amber, but do they stand a chance and are they simply in Spain for the sun, sea and sex?

"There's a bit of that, but the comedy comes from them being such fools," Walters explains.

"They are so innocent, it's not all about drinking and ladies. It's about two mates having fun and they get things wrong all the time."

Newcomer to the show, Bryon, agrees.

"They are both utterly useless to be honest," he says.

So there are few new characters on the Costa Blanca, but one old face who has returned is Jake Canuso, who plays Mateo, the show's wannabe Lothario who is back, fresh from a short stint in Madrid.

In this episode, Mateo becomes the odd choice to run a staff first aid course. And stalwart Canuso is in no doubt that there is plenty of life left in the show, eight years down the line.

"It has real heart, it has craziness, jokes and the campness, but underneath all that there is a realness to the characters," he says.

"They all have their flaws and you get a glimmer of that every now and again."

"I also think the time of year that the show is on is perfect, as it's cold and dark outside and you switch on your telly and see sunshine and blue skies."

Of course, having great guest stars who are eager to frequent the Solana does hurt either. The likes of Shane Ritchie, John Challis, Michael Fenton Stevens, Frances Barber and Angus Deayton all cropping up in future weeks, while tonight's guest star is none other than legendary comedian and actor Roy Hudd.

Sherrie Hewson stars in Benidorm, Monday, ITV, 9pm

BEST OF THE REST

MONDAY

Silent Witness

BBC1, 9pm

Part one of two. An ex-convict is found murdered in his home and suspicion immediately lands on a recently released child killer. Nikki and the Lyell team are introduced to forensic psychologist Sasha Blackburn, who works closely with those released from prison on licence, as both the victim and one of the suspects are clients of hers. The investigators soon learn that it is not just the minds of these young men that are fragile, but their freedom is too. Forensic crime drama, guest starring Lyndsey Marshal and Niamh Cusack.

TUESDAY

Phone Shop Idol

BBC2, 10pm

New series. Britain's mobile phone sales force battle it out in 'Shop Idol', an annual industry competition, in a test of their technical knowledge, customer service and sales skills. Over six months, the salespeople will take part in competitive heats presided over by three judges, with the winner receiving a fast-tracked career. In the first edition, the most ambitious phone shop staff are selected to represent their company. Their customer approach is then tested in a secretly filmed visit.

WEDNESDAY

The National Television Awards

ITV, 7.30pm

The nation's most popular shows and stars gather at The O2, London for the ceremony celebrating the best of British TV over the past year. Viewers choose the winners via a nationwide poll, with TV talking points such as Poldark, Doctor Foster, Humans, Downton Abbey, Gogglebox, The Great British Bake Off, X Factor, and Strictly Come Dancing competing for honours. Includes special guest performers, plus Billy Connolly receiving the NTAs Special Recognition Award from Dustin Hoffman. Presented by Dermot O'Leary.

Bodyshockers: Nips, Tucks and Tattoos

Channel 4, 10pm

A new year means many want to try new things, such as get a tattoo or transform our bodies and faces in an attempt to stand out. But some folks like to take such things to the extreme as this show proves. There's a growing trend of irreversible tattoos, alarming sub dermals and huge breast enhancements, as Katie Piper reveals. She'll be chatting to folks using ever more extreme ways to make their faces and bodies stand out. They include Amy, an animal lover who had her eyes tattooed black to look like a horse and her tongue split to look like a snake. We also meet Andrea, a party girl tired of her giant double-F boob job.

THURSDAY

Death in Paradise

BBC1, 9pm

There's rarely a dull moment for the models at a local fashion show, whether it's the pressure of quick changes between parading up and down the catwalk or the perils of tearing the odd dress. However, when Zoe McKay is strangled a few moments after leaving the catwalk, DI Humphrey Goodman and his team are called in to investigate. As always the investigation proves to be far from easy. There are no apparent witnesses and a lack of DNA evidence. Kris Marshall and Danny John Jules star.

The Story of China

BBC2, 9pm

New series. Michael Wood tells the story of the world's newest superpower, exploring the stories, people, culture and landscapes that have helped create its character over 4,000 years. He begins by looking at ancestry, one of the great themes of Chinese history. He joins a 300-strong family as they reunite to carry out rituals for an ancestor who died in 1049, witnesses a million pilgrims at the shrine of the goddess Nu Wa, and hears about China's greatest archaeological discovery, the Oracle Bones, which reveal fascinating clues about the first great dynasty – the Shang.

FRIDAY

Shetland

BBC1, 9pm

Perez quickly establishes that Robbie's body was retrieved from inside a shipping container. As such a thing can only be locked externally, the team now seeks a murderer – with Michael Maguire the prime suspect. A search of the ferry reveals that someone forced entry into the deck where the container was parked. Craig is implicated when Robbie's recovered phone reveals several missed calls from him, but Maguire remains heavily in the frame after the team discovers he recently made a sizable cash withdrawal.

More like a cruise ship than a ferry, Brittany Ferries sail to and from Saint Malo

The beach at Santander, northern Spain's city by the sea

Enjoy a delicious seafood dinner beside the harbour in beautiful Honfleur

A street market in the bustling Norman city of Caen

Relax and make the ferry journey part of your holiday experience

By Leon Burakowski

BRITTANY Ferries is riding a wave of success after announcing its most successful year in more than a decade.

More passengers are using Brittany Ferries as the gateway to western France and northern Spain, and the company is also becoming a major one-stop holiday provider. The 20 per cent discount on holidays booked before February 9 and a modest deposit of £40 per person is proving popular with families, especially as they can further spread the cost with the balance payable six weeks before departure.

Holidays in France, Spain and Portugal range from hotels and campsites to self-catering gites, cottages, paradors, apartments and villas.

Departures from Portsmouth, Poole and Plymouth, as opposed to negotiating the chock-a-block M25-M20 to Dover, and the lure of often empty roads in Normandy and Brittany, instead of Calais and its problems, have won over families keen to avoid stress.

The holiday starts once aboard the cruise ferries with day and evening cabins available, or comfortable reserved seats, to ensure a relaxing experience — plus live entertainment, cinemas, shops, fine French dining or self-service restaurants.

Or from May to September there is a high speed service with the catamaran Normandie Express getting from Portsmouth to Cherbourg in as little as three hours.

Don't rush to your resort as soon as you reach the port because these coastal towns and cities are worth exploring, maybe on a short break or as a touring base. Favourites include Caen, a short distance from the ferry port at Ouistreham, which is dominated by William the Conqueror's huge castle and has the lively buzz of a university city. It is also only a short distance from here to Bayeux with its museum based around the famous tapestry.

Le Havre was rebuilt after the destruction of the Second World War and is now a World Heritage site, a Maritime Metropolis famed for its 1950s architecture. Reached from Portsmouth via the 'Economie' service, this gateway to the Alabaster Coast is just a short drive — via the breathtaking Normandy Bridge over the Seine — to the picturesque harbour town of Honfleur, famous for art and seafood.

If food is high on the agenda, there is a quite amazing range of restaurants in the walled port city of Saint Malo in Brittany. The former haunt of infamous pirates is the place to sample the famous Breton crepes and cider, and it also has lots of chic shops. Not far from Saint Malo is the magnificent and mystical Mont Saint Michel, another Unesco World Heritage site. The 24 to 32 link services to Spain from Portsmouth link the UK with the bustling Basque city of Bilbao famed for the Frank Gehry-designed Guggenheim Museum Bilbao and the beach city of Santander.

Brittany Ferries operates routes to five destinations in Normandy and Brittany. Book online at www.brittanyferries.com or call 0330 159 7000. Brittany Ferries also has money-saving sail-and-stay offers — visit www.brittanyferries.com/offers. Brittany Ferries offers up to seven weekly return crossings from Portsmouth or Plymouth to Spain. Visit www.brittanyferries.com/holidays or call 0330 159 4700.

YOUR WEEKLY GUIDE TO HOME BUYING AND LETTING

Benefits of using an NAEA member

The National Association of Estate Agents (NAEA) is the UK's leading professional body for estate agency personnel, being part of a group representing 16,000 members who practice across all aspects of property services both in the UK. These include residential and commercial sales and lettings, property management, business transfer, auctioneering and land. NAEA is dedicated to the goal of professionalism within all aspects of property, estate agency and land. Its aim is to reassure the general public that by appointing an NAEA member to represent them they will receive the highest level of integrity and service for all property matters. The NAEA is a sister organisation to the Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA). What makes NAEA members different? They are united in their drive to uphold professional standards within the industry and deliver an unrivalled service to their clients. With over 7,000 members, NAEA is the largest professional body of estate agents, which brings with it a responsibility of leading the way in making the industry safer and fairer for everyone. By using a NAEA agent you are guaranteed: That the agency has professional indemnity insurance To be consulting with an agent who is either experienced or qualified who can give you up-to-date advice and guidance That you are dealing with an agent who voluntarily follows the conduct and membership rules laid out by NFAOP (National Federation of Property Professionals) regulation That you have a route to independent redress.

Preparing for a sale in winter

During the winter, the housing market is renowned for being slower, with many people holding off on selling their property until the spring. However, by incorporating a few simple tips, sellers can make their properties look and feel more attractive, increasing the chance of receiving an offer during the winter, says the National Association of Estate Agents (NAEA) Martyn Baum, president of National Association of Estate Agents, says: "Traditionally, properties are harder to sell during the winter. "It's dark and cold and while homes don't look as attractive, we're less inclined to be proactive and search for a property – and this can leave sellers feeling in a stalemate position, waiting for the spring to kick in. "Your estate agent should be well equipped to adapt to selling homes in these quieter periods but you can start by making changes as small as turning on a light or clearing out clutter." The NAEA's top tips for those looking to sell their property during winter are as follows: First impressions count: The first seconds upon arriving at a property really impact the buyer's decisions, so clear your front entrance of any winter weather damage. Winter can make the front garden and paths look dull and dirty, so ensuring these are clean and clear of leaves will improve the attractiveness of the property. Bright and beautiful: Ensure your home is well lit, this means simply checking all the bulbs are working prior to a viewing and switching them on, including any outdoor lighting. You'll know which lighting looks best in your home so work with this, especially when viewings run into the evening. During the day you can make the most of natural light by ensuring all blinds and curtains are fully open and clutter is moved out of the way. Warm and friendly: It's important to make your house feel warm and homely; it will encourage potential buyers to stay longer and to be able to vision themselves living at home. Smell is also important and each home smells different, so in order to not risk putting buyers off, freshen up your home. Open the windows prior to the viewing to let some fresh air circulate – unless it's freezing – and display some freshly cut flowers... the old cliché of fresh bread or roasting coffee really does work as well. It is also advisable to accentuate any features that are particularly important in the winter such as a fireplace, which can be a real selling point of a home. In the Garden: A messy garden can signal the need for too much work and thus detract buyers; the winter weather can also tire garden furniture, which looks quite unsightly. If possible, clear patio furniture away, if not, ensure they are securely covered. It is also advisable to trim back overhanging branches, particularly those blocking the windows in order to encourage as much light into the property as possible. Be flexible: With less daylight hours available for potential buyers to view your house, you should be as available as possible, for prospective buyers to view it when it's convenient for them. Your estate agent should help you work around these tricky daylight hours. Tackle any winter damage: Make sure any problems with the property that are more prominent in the winter – such as damp or a faulty boiler – are fixed prior to putting the house on the market. Increased rainfall over the winter does take its toll on guttering, so check the gutters and drain covers are properly cleared of dead leaves and other debris, as leaky gutters and down pipes cause damage and are unsightly. Flying off for the winter: If you are going away for any period over the winter, the heating should be left on at a low temperature (minimum of 15°C), in order to prevent the pipes from freezing. If you are away for a long period and don't want to keep the heating on 24/7, make sure it is on a timer. Longer spells at a lower temperature can be more economical than shorter blasts at higher temperatures. This will ensure that there are no problems upon your return to be dealt with before showing to prospective buyers.

WHEN Emma McDonnell and her partner Peter Fereday entered a competition to win an Ipad Air and tickets for West Midland Safari Park to treat their son, little did they think it would lead to making one of the biggest purchase decisions of their lives.

The couple, who are renting in Wimbury with three-year-old Ben, entered the competition run by house-builder Keepmoat when they went to look for a new home in Cannock.

Their names were pulled out of the hat first, resulting in them winning the Apple tablet and a year's family pass to the popular attraction. They collected their prizes from the team at Keepmoat's Briars Walk development in Chadsmoor, and were so impressed with the homes being built they reserved a new family home too.

Emma, who works for an accounting firm in Hednesford, said: "We decided it would be an ideal place to put down permanent roots as first-time buyers." House-hunters can now visit the sales centre and new Primrose show home at Briars Walk.

Well-presented three-bed bungalow in a cul-de-sac

THIS well presented three-bedroomed bungalow in Woodfield Close, Norton Canes, comes with parking for several vehicles and a detached garage.

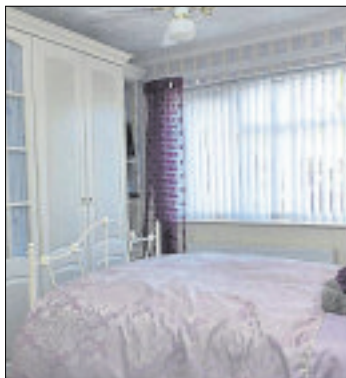

Enjoying a cul-de-sac location, it is for sale through Paul Carr at £190,000.

It has an entrance hall with tiled flooring, a kitchen with an extractor hood and a side access door, a spacious lounge/diner with a bay window and a feature fireplace with a gas fire, an inner hallway with laminate flooring, a shower room with tiled floors and walls, three good sized bedrooms, (the master with built-in wardrobes and the second bedroom having laminate flooring and French doors to the garden, and the third bedroom with laminate flooring).

Call Paul Carr Estate Agents on 01543 686444 or visit www.paulcarrestateagents.co.uk

Space to convert for an extra bedroom

SITUATED on the Meadows development to the south of Stafford town centre, this property in Charterhouse Avenue, Stafford, has been converted by the current owner from a three-bedroom property into a two-bed, but could very easily revert with a minor alteration.

Well presented, the property is for sale through DB Roberts & Partners at £190,000.

It has a lounge, breakfast kitchen, conservatory, study/craft room, WC, garage store, two bedrooms and a bathroom.

The gardens to the front and rear are well maintained and there is considerable off-road parking to the front and side.

For further information contact DB Roberts & Partners on 01785 255800 or visit the website at www.dbroberts.co.uk

DAVID WILSON HOMES

WHERE QUALITY LIVES

Astras playing role in F1

Top F1 driver coach, Rob Wilson, isn't the most sympathetic driver you'll meet. Since Vauxhall loaned him two ex-press Astras last April in which to train some of the world's leading race drivers, the cars have covered the equivalent of five Le Mans 24-Hour races, all completely flat-out at Bruntingthorpe Proving Ground in Leicestershire.

Rob Wilson is possibly one of the most important players in Formula One that you've never heard of, and is instrumental in carving split seconds from the lap times of at least 12 drivers who've been on the grid in 2015. Their skills are honed in two standard production Astras – a 1.6 CDTi 136PS diesel Sports Tourer and a 1.6T 200PS petrol GTC.

"The Vauxhalls will do everything that an F1 car does dynamically, just at a far lower speed," said Rob. This allows me to explain the physics behind what the car is doing on the track in real time."

But as Rob swapped his beloved Astras for three models from the all-new generation range, it wasn't without some regret. 'The Astras have been as tough as old boots. Between them, they've covered over 16,000 track miles at Bruntingthorpe in the hands of successive F1, GP2, WRC, DTM and Indycar drivers, and they haven't missed a beat. They've chewed through 400 tyres and 40 sets of brake pads, but despite nearly 100,000 gearshifts and 43,000 severe braking manoeuvres, the cars are as nice to drive as they were on Day One.

"I often have a driver's race engineer in the back seat and everyone has commented how comfortable the cars are, and how predictable and stable their handling is. The cars have an unbelievably hard time out on our track, so I need to know that they're not going to break. I have tried other makes of car, but they've always suffered some kind of breakdown. I'm really looking forward to spending next year in the new Astras."

Rob has taken delivery of three new Astras this month – all SRi models, two 1.6 CDTi 136PSs and one 1.4T 150PS – and has already sampled one on track, taking three seconds off his best lap time in the outgoing car. "You can feel the benefits that up to 200kgs of weight-loss has brought straight away. My drivers are going to enjoy their training even more in 2016."

So what have Rob's Astras had to endure this year?

- 16,000 track miles at full race speed
- 7,250 laps of Bruntingthorpe Proving Ground
- 2,250 corners on the limit
- 43,000 hard braking areas driven through
- 95,000 manual gearshifts
- 400 replacement tyres
- 30 sets of front brake pads
- 10 sets of rear brake pads
- 10 front brake discs

Fast-selling Hyundai drives the Czech factory success

The new Tucson has become the fastest-selling Hyundai car in the UK and Europe since its launch last September.

With over 10,000 orders in the UK and 85,000 orders in Europe, the new compact SUV contributes to Hyundai Motor Manufacturing

Czech (HMMC) factory continuing to operate at full capacity.

Since production started of the Hyundai ix35 in June 2011, more than 700,000 C-SUVs have left the Czech plant, including the new Tucson - making C-SUVs the major contributor to the success of the factory.

Recently, HMMC celebrated its 7th anniversary of mass-production which started in November 2008 with the first-generation Hyundai i30. More than 1.8 million cars have been produced, while also exporting to more than 60 markets around the world.

The factory has capacity to produce 300,000 cars and 600,000 transmissions a year.

It is also an important employer in the region, with 3,400 workers employed directly and a further 7,000 jobs created in the surrounding area.

Practical new Seat is cleverly adaptable

By Matt Joy

Seat's Ibiza hatchback was turned into the even more practical ST model in 2010, and the compact load carrier won plenty of fans with its useful boot, good spec and slick dynamics.

Now it's received the same updates as the rest of the Ibiza range, including mild tweaks to the exterior, trim and equipment upgrades and a revised model line up.

Perhaps more importantly, the Ibiza is available with some new engines, chiefly a three-cylinder 1.0-litre petrol unit in naturally aspirated and turbocharged forms.

The latter looks particularly impressive on paper with the potential for strong performance as well as economy.

Choosing the ST over the hatchback or SC versions means sacrificing a little in ultimate style for practicality, but it's fair to say that amongst other supermini-based load carriers, the Ibiza is the pick of the bunch. As with the other bodystyles, there are mild tweaks to the exterior including new front and rear lights plus a wider choice of alloy wheels and trim packs, but the key factor here is the distinctive nose and strong shoulder line that gives the Ibiza ST some real personality. That goes a long way to giving the Ibiza ST its relatively youthful image, even in this more practical guise.

That estate car body brings with it some inevitable gains in terms of space. There's an extra 138 litres of boot space with the rear seats in place, taking the total to 430. Fold the seats and it goes up to a whopping 1,164 litres, over 300 more than the hatchback in the same configuration and a lot for a car with a small footprint. In the main cabin there's a little more headroom thanks to the longer roofline over the back seats, though taller adults will want to sit up front to take advantage of the most space on offer.

It's taken for granted that a modern supermini is just as capable out of town and on a B-road as it is in the city, nonetheless the Ibiza ST is a satisfying small car to drive. What really sets apart this latest version however is the new 1.0-litre three-cylinder engine, tested here in 109PS Eco-TSI form.

Although the performance figures are relatively modest - top speed 119mph, 0-62mph in 10.8 seconds - it feels like a much more potent unit.

It's surprisingly quiet, but still has a pleasing three-cylinder tone and is happy to lug from low revs, feeling like a much bigger unit. Yet in spite of this performance, it is capable of some remarkable economy; 94g/km and 68.9mpg combined is exceptionally thrifty and all from a petrol engine, meaning cheaper prices at the pump over the long-term.

This is a high-economy car without any of the usual disadvantages.

The Ibiza ST's road manners have also been improved, with retuned suspension that helps to soak up road bumps with less fuss, without hurting the handling. The new electric power steering system helps to save fuel, and while it isn't the most feelsome it's light for parking and pleasingly accurate.

All Ibizas get air conditioning, a version of the touchscreen, a USB port, Bluetooth and air conditioning, while moving up to this SE model nets additional features like chrome roof rails, LED daytime running lights, alloy wheels, leather on the steering wheel and gearknob plus the five-inch touchscreen system for your audio inputs. What's more, in this form the Ibiza ST is £14,765, good value for a well-equipped car that will potentially cost peanuts to run.

The Ibiza in ST form is an eminently sensible choice for a variety of people. Families with small children will find it a good size both inside and out, whilst those who need to carry sizeable loads but don't want a huge estate all the time will also find it very useful. It's not short on luxury touches and with its enthusiastic turbocharged engine, can make short work of long journeys too.

This car summed up in a single word: Clever. If this car was a: tool it would be an adjustable spanner - able to adapt to pretty much any situation.

The trendy Evoque will stay at top of tree

By John Griffiths

It was a bit of a surprise for some, but the trendy Evoque soon proved its critics wrong by selling 80,000 in the first year.

So perhaps the convertible version – which again divides opinion – will prove another big success when it appears in dealer showrooms in the spring.

The new version, with what is claimed to be the longest folding roof in the business but which still has room for four adults, will start at £47,500 – near the price of a fully stacked hard top Evoque.

Like the coupe, the convertible is Land Rover going boldly where it's never been before. So it's likely there will be plenty of interest in what is billed as the world's first luxury compact SUV convertible, which will come with four wheel drive and the option of manual and automatic gearboxes.

But it will also share something with the newly upgraded Evoque coupes – probably the lowest running costs in the sector, with fuel economy, CO2 emissions and running costs that would leave even some small family hatchbacks green with envy.

For, as part of its makeover, the Evoque gets the lightweight and highly efficient 2.0 litre Ingenium turbo diesel built at Jaguar Land Rover's Wolverhampton plant.

It is 18 per cent more efficient than the 2.2 litre Ford engine it replaces, helping the Evoque to trounce the opposition on running costs – it isn't only its fuel economy but also the advanced Ingenium engine allows for much longer intervals between service – now two years.

The 150bhp, two wheel drive version with manual gearbox is capable of up to 68mpg according to official tests and a mere 109g/m of CO2 – making it the most efficient Land Rover ever, and a class leader. The more powerful 180PS version is equally impressive, with figures of 59mpg and 125g/km of CO2. There is still a two litre, 240PS petrol option for those who value ultimate performance over economy.

The test car was the £32,200 entry level with 150bhp, two wheel drive and a manual gearbox. It is well equipped as standard, but start adding some of the many option packs and the costs soon build up. This car, for example, had an upgraded navigation kit (£600), a panoramic sunroof (£900), a premium sound and connectivity system (£2,250) and a convenience pack (£1,800). The fully stacked, all singing, all dancing version comes in at £51,500.

Bearing in mind that this was still the entry level model, the Evoque instantly felt livelier, quieter and even more refined than its predecessor, perhaps because of the significantly lower weight and lower noise levels from the Ingenium engine. It doesn't feel big or heavy on the road, more like a family hatchback in fact, and feels equally at home on busy streets, the motorway or country lanes.

Style and status (that Range Rover badge) are undoubtedly big factors in the Evoque's success, but it is also very capable. Even two wheel drive versions have a raft of electronic helpers to keep you safe and on the move in bad weather, but all wheel drive versions have serious off-road ability.

New models now have the innovative 'All-Terrain Progress Control' seen on bigger, more expensive Land Rover and Range Rover cars. Just press the appropriate button (mud and ruts, snow and so on) and the car does the rest, constantly adjusting vehicle settings to maintain traction and make progress.

From the outside, the new car is still instantly recognisable as an Evoque: it would be a brave man who changed too much on a car like this. But it does have a new front bumper with wider air intakes, a choice of grille designs and a new rear roof spoiler with built-in stop lamp. There is also the option of the company's first LED adaptive headlights, which follow steering inputs allowing you to see deeper into corners.

But it's inside the Evoque where you'll see most changes, including new seats, new instrument binnacle and the new 'InControl Touch' screen. It's a computer in the car which comes with a range of capabilities (and of course prices). The top of the range option fitted to the test car doesn't only control functions such as hands free phone, CD and DVD play, radio and navigation. You can also pair it up with a standard smart phone and use any 'apps' you have.

While the Evoque has always been a luxury SUV, it seems to have gone up a grade with improvements to the interior including an Oxford leather steering wheel, multi-adjustable front seats, and interior mood lighting.

The compact SUV sector of the car market is where manufacturers are currently doing battle for sales and that shows little, if any, sign of waning as barely a month goes by without a new model being launched. But the Evoque, Land Rover's fastest selling model ever, has established itself at the top of the tree and this revamp will help to keep it there. More luxury, more equipment and technology, more refinement and a better driving experience – yet with some of the lowest running costs. It has to be a formula for continued success.

Blue is the new green for sporty hatchback

By John Griffiths

Blue is the new green, it seems, in the world of the sporty hatchback.

Bluemotion is the name of Volkswagen's economy models but the technology behind it has now found its way across a wider range of vehicles, including the latest GT.

This is the 1.4 litre Polo Blue GT, perhaps better described as a 'warm hatch' rather than a hot hatch because that designation truly belongs to the full-blown GT with its bigger 1.8 engine, more power and more pace. But it may well appeal to a wider range of drivers, being somewhat easier on the pocket and indeed on other parts of the anatomy with its more forgiving ride.

The direct injection, turbocharged petrol engine is a little cracker, providing 0 to 62mph acceleration in 7.8 seconds yet it's also capable of averaging more than 50mpg.

The Polo, as cars tend to do, have grown with successive generations so it's no longer the tiddler of the VW range and is easily capable of accommodating four adults in comfort, five at a pinch. It also comes with a trendy interior and high specification as befits a car which costs £18,485.

The 1.4 TSI engine isn't entirely new, and is pretty impressive in larger, heavier VW models so it's no real surprise that it makes the Polo a lively, fun drive that's also refined, as it's never really under strain. It has 147bhp and 250Nm of torque.

With its six-speed gearbox, 70mph in top equates to around 2,400rpm which gives it a more relaxed, refined feel than most small cars, and in fact more akin to bigger, more expensive metal. The extra torque imparted by the turbo means plenty of mid-range punch, too.

The theory of using a smaller engine fitted with a turbo-charger is pretty sound, and is being adopted by more and more car makers. Essentially you have extra economy under light loads, but then power when necessary you need something rather more dynamic, for example, a quick overtake.

The Blue GT has a couple of extra cards up its sleeve, including the aforementioned Bluemotion technology which includes improved aerodynamics to help it slice more cleanly through the air, with less drag.

There's also an automatic stop/start system and its Active Cylinder Technology, or ACT, which cuts off fuel to two of the four cylinders when the engine is under light load, such as when you're cruising on a light throttle.

The switch between two and four cylinders is entirely seamless: you'd never know if it wasn't for the '2-cylinder mode' message which pops up in the driver's information display. It doesn't just happen on steep downhill stretches of road, it even runs on two cylinders on level stretches of motorway which makes me wonder how much money I've wasted over the years by having four cylinders running constantly.

The Blue GT's official fuel average is 58.9mpg (CO2 rating a low 110g/km) while my own test figure was a fraction over 50mpg, which included a couple of long motorway runs and two pretty awful traffic jams. Few, if any, drivers reach the dizzy heights of the official laboratory test so I found my returns pretty impressive in 'real world' driving. That's particularly so with a car which has real performance potential, but clearly being seduced into the traffic lights grand prix will have a direct impact on your pocket.

The GT's lowered, sports suspension is firmer than the standard Polo, or perhaps that's emphasised the fat, low profile 215/40 tyres but it is sufficiently well damped to avoid any real discomfort over a typical British b-road.

The steering is perfectly weighted and positive, with confidence-inspiring neutral handling through bends and an electro-mechanical difference for added traction and stability in slippery conditions. There are also, as you'd expect these days, a range of electronic systems including stability and traffic controls, hill hold assist and brake assist.

Inside, the VW continues the 'blue' theme with blue alcantara panels in the grey leather and fabric sports-style seats. The rest of the cabin screams quality, too, with soft to the touch materials and clear instruments and secondary controls.

The centre console is dominated by the colour touch screen, which in the test car included satellite navigation (a £700 extra). It's an impressive system, as it also manages to warn of roadworks and queueing traffic on the road ahead.

It also, of course, functions as the control centre for the DAB radio and CD system, driver information and settings, and connectivity (it is full compatible with the latest generation of smart phones). Other standard equipment includes air conditioning, electric windows and mirrors, heat insulated tinted glass and front fog lamps.

Bearing in mind the Blue GT's high standard of finish, plus its impressive balance of performance and economy, the £18,485 looks more competitive than you might imagine against rival 'warm' hatchbacks. It will also prove cheaper to run, too, with its fuel economy, low CO2 rating and its group 23E (out of 50) insurance rating.

acknowledgementsHAMER*John Thomas

Evelyn, Philip and Mark Hamer wish to thank everyone who came to Johns Funeral.

Thank you to Jeff for the lovely poem, Derrick for the beautiful song he sang, and to Colin Bruton.

Thank you to Philip Emery, Funeral Directors for the caring Service.

Thank you everyone for the collection for Cancer Research which raised £300.

TAYLORKeith

Michelle and Carl would like to thank everyone for their support and kind messages of sympathy at this sad time.

Also thank you to all who attended the Funeral Service and for the flowers and the generous donations of £230 to The Midlands Air Ambulance.

Special thanks, also, to Father Pat Brennan at St. Marys Church for a lovely service and to all at A.J. Sellman for making a difficult time more bearable.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer.

1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

STAFFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 (AS AMENDED) ROAD TRAFFIC (TEMPORARY RESTRICTIONS) ACT 1991 A4601 WOLVERHAMPTON ROAD, CANNOCK (LONGFORD ISLAND) DIVERSION OF VEHICULAR TRAFFIC

NOTICE is hereby given that the Staffordshire County Council intend, not less than seven days from the date of this Notice, to make an Order the effect of which will be to prohibit any vehicle from proceeding in that length of A4601 Wolverhampton Road, Cannock, from its junction with A5 (T) Watling Street for a distance of approximately 190 metres in a generally southerly direction unless the vehicle is being used in connection with the works, or unless the vehicle requires access to premises on the length of road or is being used for police, fire brigade or ambulance purposes.

The preferred alternative route for traffic will be available via A4601 Wolverhampton Road, A460 Lodge Lane, A5 (T) Watling Street and vice versa.

The Order will come into operation on 29th January 2016, and the said works (which will take place between the hours of 19:00 and 06:00 nightly) will commence on or as near as practicable to that date. It is anticipated that the works will be completed by 13th February 2016.

The Order will remain in force for a period of 18 months or until the carriageway improvement works, which it is proposed to carry out on or near the road, have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Women's side show steel to hit back from goal behind

Steel City Wanderers 1 Wolves Women 2

WOLVES Women turn their attention to the Birmingham County Cup on Sunday when they entertain Leaffield Athletic Ladies in the third round at Hedgesford Town's Keys Park ground.

Wolves regularly enjoy a good run in the County Cup, having reached the semi-final for the past four years.

The last time they reached the final was in 2010, beating Leaffield 2-1 after extra time in the semi-final, but they were beaten 4-1 by Birmingham City in the final.

Kick-off is at 2pm and admission is £2, concessions £1.

Here, they came from behind to seal an impressive win away at Sheffield side Steel City Wanderers.

Wolves were caught out in the 35th minute when the striker appeared to foul Wolves' defender Emma Cross, and when nothing was given by the referee, she went on to score past Lucy Gardner in goal.

Wolves were finally rewarded with an equaliser in the 76th minute, when Kim Holden got on the end of a through ball from Jade Cross and coolly slotted past the keeper to make it 1-1.

Just three minutes later Cross herself went through on goal after beating the defender to the ball, and confidently lobbed the advancing keeper to give Wolves the lead.

Manager Steve Cullis said: "I was very proud of the players today, grabbing all three points in tough conditions."

"They upped the pace in the second half, worked hard, and showed unity as a team."

Chasetown net the points against Sam

SAPPHETS battled to a 23-18 victory over Whitmore X to retain top spot in the Wolverhampton City Netball League. Chasetown edged out Sam 3 24-22.

Cresta in Division 3 sank Libra Lea Navy 32-12, while in Division 4, Stourbridge Jets Black continue their march to the title with a 29-12 victory over Oddeasy.

Division 5 Diamonds put in two sparkling performances, and Sam 5 continue to impress, beating Breezers, 24-17.

Results: Division 1: Whitmore X 18 Sapphets 23; Sam 3 22 Chasetown Mix 24; Whitmore Y 20 Crescent 7; Division 2: Sam 4 18 Fusion 22; Ladybirds 10 Phoenix Hornets 23; Dolls 26 Lucas 21; Division 3: Cresta 32 Libra Lea Navy 12; Wordsley Storks 23 Dolls 2 18; Eurostars 24 Jupiter 18; Division 4: Flames 29 Ice 13; Sedgley Sirens 16 Inspire 12; Stourbridge Jets Black 29 Oddeasy 12; Phoenix Scorpions 20 Lunes 15; Division 5: Diamonds 27 Thundercats 4; Diamonds 30 Zimmers 6; Sam 5 24 Breezers 17; Smeistow Ladies 7 Whitmore B 34.

Look who's coming to dinner

Ex-England rugby player Tim Stimpson

LEICESTER Tiger, England and British Lions player Tim Stimpson will be guest of honour at a sportsman's dinner in Burntwood at the end of this month.

The Merseyside-born full-back played 125 times for Leicester, becoming their principal goal kicker, and won 19 England caps during an eight-year first class career. He also played once for the Lions in 1997.

Now aged 42, he will address guests at Burntwood Rugby Club's annual presentation and dinner on Saturday, January 30.

The event gets under way at 7pm with tickets priced at £30, or £250 for a table of 10.

Buffet

Tickets are available at the bar at the clubhouse at the Sportsway, or contact Martyn Smith on 07792 390190.

Meanwhile, on Saturday February 20, the club is saying thank you to all its sponsors and partners for the current season with a game against Eccleshall. A pre-match buffet will be served at 12.30pm, with the game kicking off at 2.15.

On the field, Burntwood enjoyed a 48-0 win over local rivals Bloxwich last weekend in their first game since the Christmas break. They lie sixth in the Midlands 3 West (North) and this weekend make the short trip to Willenhall.

The second XV entertain Willenhall seconds, while the Colts face Ashby at home on Sunday.

Undefeated Harris is right on cue for leaders

JACK Harris was the star turn as Premier Division leaders St Johns snatched victory from the jaws of defeat in the Aldridge & District Snooker League.

The undefeated Harris rolled in a season's best break of 83 to spark a fightback after the table-toppers found themselves trailing 2-0 to Pelsall Social A.

Scott Preece and Andy Guy had given the visitors a flying start but Harris started the comeback with Riley Parsons, who has also yet to taste defeat the season, then squaring the match at 2-2. Mick Faulkner clinched the decider to seal the win and maintain St Johns' unbeaten record.

Second-placed Cannock Cons B closed the gap between themselves and St Johns to nine points with a 4-1 home victory against Stafford Road A.

Reigning champions Wednesfield Cons A are third following a 4-1 win against bottom club Ogley Hay.

The top two in Division One went head-to-head. Second-placed Stafford Road B wiped out leaders Bentley Moor A's four-point advantage with a 3-2 home success.

Bloxwich Men B tightened their grip on third place with a 4-1 win at Golden Cue C. Darlaston Cons are still in promotion hunt after beating Birchills 3-2.

Results - Prem Div: Aldridge Cons B 1 O Bar A 4; Bloxwich Memorial A 4 Fishley Park 1; Cannock Cons B 4 Stafford Road A 1; Lea Hall Club 1 Golden Cue A 4; Old Hall 3 Landwood SC A 2; St Johns SC 3 Pelsall Social A 2; Wednesfield Cons A 4 Ogley Hay 1.

Div 1: Aldridge Cons C 1 Wednesfield Cons B 4; Darlaston Cons 3 Birchills 2; Golden Cue C 1 Bloxwich Memorial B 4; Landwood SC B 3 Amery 2; O Bar B 2 Essington WMC 3; Stafford Road B 3 Bentley Moor A 2; Athenasium Club 3 Norton Vic 2; Bentley Moor B 3 Victoria B 2.

Clarke top of the town hall boxing card

UNBEATEN boxer Lennox Clarke tops the bill in a Walsall Town Hall card next month.

Halesowen fighter Clarke, yet to lose in nine bouts, faces a tough task against Harlow's Richard Horton - who has won nine in 14 - in an eight-round clash on February 19.

Also featuring on the undercard of 'Undefeated' are Wednesbury's Sam Evans, Nathan Gorman from Nantwich and Market Harborough's Reuben Arrowsmith.

Also appearing are West Bromwich heavyweight Matt Gorman, highly-rated Zach Parker, of Swadincote, Old Hill's stylish Manny 'Pac Man' Zaber, Stoke's Kieran McLaren and Birmingham's Luke Heron Walker.

General admission tickets are £30, VIP ringside at £60 and can be purchased on 0845 111 2900.

I nearly quit, says speedway's Adams

WOLVES speedway team boss Peter Adams thought long and hard about stepping down over the winter.

The veteran manager felt his message to riders was becoming stale following back-to-back seasons of under-achievement.

But a raft of fresh faces in the 2016 side - only Swedes Freddie Lindgren and Jacob Thorsell survive from last year's line-up - means he has decided to continue in his personal quest for a 10th top-flight league title.

Adams had no heart-to-heart with club owner Chris Van Straaten over the possibility of quitting, but admitted a lot of soul searching over the close season.

"In years gone by we've tended to trawl the club's retained list for the bedrock positions in the team," said Adams.

"I think we needed wholesale changes, rather than one or two. When you're using a lot of the same riders year after year after year, then they get a bit stale with the team manager's message."

"I think we'd arrived at the point where you want a load of people who haven't heard my message - or you go down the traditional path and find another team manager."

Retained

"There was a bit of thinking along those lines. If you look at people like Peter Karlsson, Ricky Wells, Freddie (Lindgren), (Ty) Proctor, all these guys on the retained list, I've worked with these guys for donkeys' years and there's nothing new for me, really, to tell them."

"But there's certainly something new for me to tell five new kids and that's the route Chris has decided we should go down."

"When I think I've got nothing left to offer the club, I'll stand aside. But I think we are some way off that," added Adams, who will offer Freddie Lindgren the captaincy.

New Wolves signing Sam Masters went agonisingly close to Australian title glory in the final round in Mildura at the weekend.

Masters needed to win the Grand Final to secure gold over the four rounds but failed to get the better of Justin Sedgmen and Max Fricke, handing Brady Kurtz the title.

Masters said: "I'm really lost for words - I've come so far in the series and lost out by a single point."

Freddie ready to get back on track

Promoter Chris Van Straaten with riders Freddie Lindgren and Max Clegg and sponsor Dave Perry WOLVES ace Freddie Lindgren is chasing 'redemption' after last season's nightmare - and believes he can get back to his best.

The Monmore men finished one off the bottom of the Elite League last year and the Swede - not helped by a race formula which pits the top men against each other more often - saw his average plummet by nearly a third.

The club have reacted by trying to construct a more rounded team without weak links. But the 30-year-old insists he is the man to sprinkle some stardust at the top end.

"We have strength in depth, but to be successful you need a top guy - and I need to be that guy," he said.

"I won't start as the top guy, but my plan is to end the year as the top guy. I believe a key to success will be myself. After a tough year last year my average has gone down significantly. There's a big chance that I can improve it. That's always good for a team."

"Wolverhampton have had two bad years on the bounce. I wasn't there two years ago (Lindgren sat out the 2014 British season), but I was there last year and we really need to do better, need some redemption."

Bradshaw's rescue act for Saddlers at the Ricoh

Coventry City 1 Walsall 1
TOM Bradshaw's goal 10 minutes from time brought Walsall a hard-earned point against promotion rivals Coventry at the Ricoh Arena.

The striker produced a wonderful sidefooted finish to ensure the League One clash finished 1-1 after Chris Stokes had given the Sky Blues a first-half lead.

That goal came from a free-kick which appeared to have been won after Jacob Murphy appeared to dive following a challenge from George Evans.

However, referee Tony Harrington awarded a free-kick wide on the left which former England midfielder Joe Cole took and Stokes headed home.

But Walsall will be delighted with their point, which sees them remain third in League One, but just two points behind leaders Burton Albion.

Before kick-off there was a minute's silence in memory of former Sky Blues chairman Mike McGinley.

Walsall boss Sean O'Driscoll made a double change on the hour-mark with Jason Demetriou and Anthony Forde coming on for Liam Kinsella and Milan Lalkovic.

He later switched Evans for striker Jordan Cook. And with 10 minutes remaining, the Saddlers pulled level thanks to Bradshaw's 13th goal of the season, meeting Rico Henry's ball into the box to calmly side-foot into the net from 12-yards while under pressure.

For the last five minutes as well as stoppage time, both teams went in search of a winner but each in the end having to settle for a point.

Bees stung by Smith's former side

Brentford 0 Saddlers 1
VICTORIES don't get much sweeter than this – just ask one of the 1,600 Saddlers fans who made the trip to see their side overcome former boss Dean Smith's Brentford.

There was only one team at the races once referee Andy Davies got proceedings under way at Griffin Park.

Determined not to start sluggishlly – as they did in defeat to Rochdale – Walsall flew out of the blocks with the plan of boss Sean O'Driscoll to line them up in a midfield diamond working to perfection.

The tenacity, determination and sheer quality of Walsall's play meant when they took the lead in the 35th minute, it was richly deserved. Best of all, they did in front of the rip-roaring away support with a wonder strike from Mantom.

Signing up to tackle obesity

FOOTBALLERS in Burntwood are being urged to sign up to their local six-a-side league to get fit during 2016.

Leisure Leagues have launched the Man vs Fat initiative, designed to offer football as a means to combat obesity in men.

The scheme is being offered to men with a Body Mass Index (BMI) of 30 or over.

The effects of small-sided football fitness are well known. A study conducted at Copenhagen University showed that such games were more beneficial for competitors than a session in the gym.

And with the season set to start soon, now is the perfect time to join, said a Leisure Leagues spokesman. The leagues, which take place at Burntwood Leisure Centre on Sunday, Monday and Thursday will see players able to work off those post-Christmas pounds as well as being given the chance to compete for a host of top prizes.

Variety

The Danish study, led by Professor Peter Krstrup, found that two groups of men performed equally well on a variety of fitness tests, even though one group had been training in the gym while the other had been doing battle on the five-a-side pitch.

The footballers showed that they had been at 90 per cent of their maximum heart rate for longer than their gym-going counterparts, and had also lowered their blood pressure more significantly.

Anyone who wants more information on the league can ring 0333 123 2340 or visit www.leisureleagues.net.

BMI is a measure of body fat based on height and weight that applies to adult men and women.

The result gives an indication of whether you're a healthy weight, and if not, how over or underweight you are.

You can find out your BMI by visiting www.man-vfat.com/football

Referees are also wanted in the area and they can also get in touch.

Visitors cling on to win in physical clash

Cannock 12 Wednesbury 18
FIXTURES between these two teams are usually tough, physical games – and this was no exception.

At the corresponding fixture at the beginning of the season Wednesbury lost at home, but this was a different game and a different Wednesbury side, who had won their last two and were looking to make it a hat-trick.

Wednesbury began the game kicking down the slope, but it was Cannock who took an early lead kicking a penalty after only three minutes. Within the space of a couple of minutes Wednesbury were awarded two penalties, both successfully converted by Marcus Taylor in his first game back after a long absence.

Wednesbury used the slope to their advantage with Winger Rhys Nickle using his incredible speed on the wing to punch holes in the Cannock defence, on a couple of occasions being bundled into touch by the Cannock defence before he could cross the try line.

From a scrum, Wednesbury got their first try. No 8 Dale Doughty picked up the ball and drove through the Cannock defence and over the line. From the restart Cannock were awarded a penalty which they successfully converted.

Cannock started the second half well using the slope to their advantage. They were awarded two penalties in the first 10 minutes which they successfully converted to give them a slender lead.

This kick-started Wednesbury into action, with Marcus Taylor marshalling his troops bringing his midfield players Lee Allwood and Dan King more into the game forcing Cannock onto the back foot.

Midway through the half Wednesbury's Ben Baker got the ball in the Cannock half and went on a run, evading desperate tackles for Wednesbury's second try, Taylor added the conversion to give the lead back to Wednesbury, which they cling onto.

The mark of Zyro as new boy poles apart

Wolves 3 Fulham 2

THEY might once have had a 'Pole with no goal' but that cannot be levelled at Michal Zyro who immediately made his mark on the Molineux faithful.

In an impressive home debut, Zyro netted in the sixth minute and added another in the 13th to set Wolves up for a victory that was tenser in the closing stages than it needed to be.

Chances galore went begging, not least from the South Bank's new hero, who could have scored a couple more.

One chance they had no right to take – a 35-yard bullet from the unlikely source of makeshift left-back Matt Doherty, Wolves' goal of the season so far – ultimately proved the difference.

Fulham, who played some very easy-on-the-eye football, nearly ruined the Zyro party, but Wolves were good value for this win, their fourth league victory on the spin.

Before the game began there was a minute's applause to remember Roy Swinbourne and Sir Jack Hayward.

That man Jordan Graham provided the assist for Zyro's opener. Then – seven minutes later the Pole scored again, latching on to a throughball from the back, holding off his man and sidefooting under Andy Loneragan.

On 24 minutes Jazz Richards' pinpoint cross was headed home by Lasse Vigen Christensen.

Three minutes into the second half came what was surely the best goal of Doherty's career and possibly a goal of the season, but Wolves endured a nervy final 15 minutes after Ross McCormack deflected in a shot from 20 yards.

Late defeat a Hammer blow to cup hopes

West Ham 1 Wolves 0

THE last thing you could level at this match was that it exemplified the 'romance' of the FA Cup.

In fact it was about as romantic as dinner for two in a dodgy kebab shop. And magic? Nope, none of that either. Nor a giantkilling.

FA Cup clichés were in short supply for Wolves' last-ever visit to Upton Park.

Goalmouth action was in short supply...entertaining football was non-existent. It was attritional, workmanlike and, for the most part, uneventful.

But that's the way Wolves and Kenny Jackett wanted it – and they very nearly got the result their performance merited – until substitute Andy Carroll changed the game and set up Nikica Jelavic for the Ham- mers late winner.

Saddlers on the hunt for fourth scalp

WALSALL will target yet another win over Championship opposition after being handed a trip to either Huddersfield Town or Reading in the FA Cup fourth round.

Saturday's win over former boss Dean Smith's Brentford was the Saddlers' third triumph this term against second-tier opponents, having previously dumped Nottingham Forest and Brighton out of the Capital One Cup.

Sean O'Driscoll's men are enjoying their best run in the competition for a decade and could end up against a familiar face for the second round running, this time in the shape of winger Jamie Paterson.

The 24-year-old, who came through the youth ranks at the Banks's, is currently on a season-long loan at Huddersfield from Forest and was on target in the Terriers 2-2 draw with the Royals on Saturday.

The two sides meet again next week in a replay to decide who will host the Saddlers, with the tie due to take place over the weekend of January 30/31.

Boss O'Driscoll has meanwhile confirmed he will hold a meeting with his players in the near future to assess how they move forward with their promotion push.

The former Forest and Doncaster Rovers boss has had his players in to train on Sundays at previous clubs, with that one of the topics up for discussion.

"It's a difficult one because there are so many tangibles at this club," O'Driscoll said. "I am used to going in on a Sunday but the players haven't done it all year and footballers are quite superstitious."

"I am really wary of upsetting anything. It's a good opportunity after five games to look at what needs to change and what doesn't need to change."

Referee is praised despite decision to call off match

AFC TELFORD UNITED Supporters' Trust chairman Luke Fearnall praised referee Amy Fearn despite admitting the postponement of Tuesday night's clash against Hednesford was a 'huge blow'.

The Bucks' National North relegation clash against local rivals Pitmen was called off for a second time within three weeks after heavy rainfall prior to kick-off.

Fearnall said: "It's a huge blow."

Despite the club calling for supporters to lend a hand in clearing water from the New Bucks Head surface, the game eventually fell foul of the weather at about 6.45pm.

It had originally been called off on January 2 without the presence of an official.

Fearnall claimed the surface on Tuesday night was significantly worse than that of the previous fixture.

"To be fair to Amy she gave the fixture every chance," he said.

"She had a look at it at 6.15pm and said that she'd have another look at 6.45pm and she's done that true to her word."

Scholars move into a play-off spot

Joy for players – and a fan – as Chasetown score

Chasetown 2 Daventry Town 1

CHASETOWN made it 13 points from the last 15 at home as they beat Daventry Town 2-1 to move into an Evo-Stik First Division South play-off spot.

The fact the game was on at all was down to the efforts of a dozen supporters who worked tirelessly from 8am to get the pitch playable.

Chasetown started brightly and in the 20th minute James Dance struck the base of the post.

Two minutes later Jono Gould went on an amazing run into the penalty area and slid the ball to Nick Turton who marked his first league start of the season with a crisp finish. Just after the hour, Chasetown were guilty of a defensive lapse presenting a chance to Mitch Piggon, who made no mistake with a cool finish past Bateman.

But the Scholars bagged the points when substitute Stan Mugisha advanced towards the box and drilled a low shot which zipped along the wet surface beyond Ben Heath.

Chasetown were travelling to Kidsgrove last night (Wednesday) and entertain Stocksbridge Park Steels on Saturday.

DEBUTANTS ON TARGET IN VAIN

Hednesford Town 2 Harrogate 2
HEDNESFORD Town were made to pay after conceding goals at the start of each half – slumping to a 3-2 defeat against promotion-chasing Harrogate Town at Keys Park.

The Pitmen included two debutants in their starting line-up with Jack Fitzwater, signed on a month loan from West Bromwich Albion, and Stephane Ngamvoulou, on a similar deal from Whitehawk. They came into the side for Tyrone Williams, who had returned to Kidderminster Harriers, and the suspended Phil Trainer.

Frank Sinclair's men made the worst possible start as they conceded in the fourth minute. Harrogate's Paul Clayton found himself through on goal and although Hednesford goalkeeper Dan Crane saved his initial shot, the ball rebounded off the striker and into the net.

Four minutes later it was 2-0 as Clayton saw his header saved by Crane but winger Jack Emmett was on hand to fire home at the back post.

Appeals

Hednesford had struggled to find any kind of foothold in the game during the opening quarter of the game although they did have appeals for a penalty turned away after a Paul Ennis cross was stopped by the outstretched arm of Danny Ellis.

The first shot in anger from the home side came after 38 minutes when Kyle Perry laid the ball off to Sean Williams who saw a low driven effort kept out by Peter Crook in the Harrogate goal.

The Pitmen's task of gaining anything from the game was handed a further blow inside the opening 60 seconds of the second period as Clayton got his second of the game with a fine overhead kick on the edge of the six-yard box.

It almost got worse for Hednesford in the 52nd minute as Brendon Daniels picked out former Pitmen player Lloyd Kerry but he was denied by a fine save from Crane.

Harrogate continued to control proceedings as the second half progressed and there looked little way back for the home side. But the Pitmen were able to give themselves hope with 15 minutes remaining through one of their debutants.

Midfielder Stephane Ngamvoulou was able to play a neat one-two with Perry and after progressing into the box he fired home from 12 yards.

New on-loan signing Stephane Ngamvoulou scores on his Pitmen debut

A minute later a cross in from the right by Adam Thomas was misjudged by Crook and with the ball bouncing around the six-yard box Hednesford striker Tom Peers was unable to turn the ball home.

The home side did reduce the arrears further in the second of four added minutes when another debutant, Shelton Payne, fired in a low shot from the edge of the box which took a slight deflection before finding the back of the net.

Although there were two minutes remaining the home side couldn't force a memorable finish and it was the visitors who took the three points home with them.

Hednesford strengthened their side this week by signing Oldham Athletic defender Jack Truelove on a one-month loan.

Following Tuesday night's cancellation against Telford, the Pitmen next play North Ferriby at home on Saturday, kick off 3pm, then travel to Stafford Rangers for a Staffs Senior Cup tie next Tuesday.

Hednesford Town: Crane, Fitzwater, Regan (Payne 46), Bailey, Digby, Ngamvoulou, Obeng, Williams, Perry, Ennis (Peers 56), Thomas: Subs not used: Ransome, James, Thorley
Harrogate Town: Crook, Turner, Swain, Cadman (Gascoigne 66), Ellis (Bloomer 70), McGurk, Emmett, Kerry, Clayton, Yates, Daniels: Subs not used: Thewlis, Colbeck, Lassana: Attendance: 375

Afobe lured by chance to play in Prem

BENIK Afobe says Wolves 'did everything' to try and keep him at the club – but the lure of the Premier League was too great.

The 22-year-old has completed a £10million move to Bournemouth, signing a four-and-a-half year contract.

And the striker took to Twitter to thank Wolves and their fans for their support during his 12 months at Molineux.

In his statement, Afobe said: "I've thought long and hard about the next step in my career."

"I know the Wolves fans will be disappointed but it's been a lifelong ambition of mine to play at the highest level and I believe it was the right time to take this chance."

"Thanks to Wolves for the past 12 months. They did everything to keep me but it was my ultimate decision to leave."

"I've waited a long time to get a shot in the Prem. Now the time has come! I'm looking forward to the new challenge."

It is understood Afobe had a buyout clause in his Wolves contract that could have led to him leaving on the cheap next summer.

The clause would have been activated had Wolves not won promotion to the Premier League this season. The buyout figure is thought to have been considerably lower than what the Cherries paid.

It is also believed that Arsenal received 10 per cent of the £10m fee from a sell-on clause inserted into Afobe's contract when he moved to Molineux last January.

Wolves have signed 18-year-old Swindon winger Will Randall, but names in the frame to replace Afobe include Peterborough hotshot Conor Washington, Hibs striker Jason Cummings, Walsall's Tom Bradshaw and long-time target Nakhil Wells, of Huddersfield.

Boss Frank over his love for Pitmen role

FORMER Chelsea defender Frank Sinclair says he is 'loving life' as boss of Hednesford Town despite their precarious position near the bottom of the National League North.

A 3-2 defeat at promotion-chasing Harrogate on Saturday has dragged the Pitmen back into a relegation scrap but Sinclair said he remained focused on maintaining his new club's safety.

"I'm loving being back involved in the management side of things," he said.

"I'm working under some great people who clearly love the game and everything is in place for me to be successful here."
